The male of the species is going to be gaudier than the female. . . . That's the impression after viewing the men's style show yesterday. . . . It really was an eye-fel and another first for Palm Springs. . . . the first men's and boys' style parade.

A NEW ANGLE on the bench situation was presented this week by a citizen of the Village who asked that his name not be used. "I don't want the city government around my ears," he said. . . . But his idea was simple. . . . "All of these people who write postcards and letters to you asking for the return of benches and this word of mouth stuff which I have heard you get, should put their names on a petition to the city council. . . . Maybe then, they'd get results. . . . Me do it? I told you I wanted to keep in good with the government." . . . Seems like a lot of Villagers must have visited Florida this year. . . . Two more postcards came in this week commenting on what Florida cities are doing to provide rest for weary pedestrians.

VILLAGE TIME is going to be an issue within a short time. . . . Harry C. Harper of the Chamber of Commerce is preparing to take up the matter with the city council. . . . Directors of the Chamber are all for it and authorized him to take action at once. . . . "Just look at that," he said yesterday. "Not even four o'clock and there goes the sun down behind San Jacinto." . . . But there'll be opposition. . . . Was out at about 6 a. m. today to gather in the L.A. papers and a workman went by. . . . "Look," he said, "the sun's just coming up. If they put Village time in effect, it'd be after 7 a. m. now and I'd be going down town for breakfast in the dark."

WHAT EFFECT is the new state supreme court ruling going to have on local lounges? . . . The decision was that all taverns must have a kitchen, a cook, and waiters and substantial meals. . . . The ruling came when a tavern in San Francisco asked an interpretation of the status of the hot-dog. . . . They wanted to serve that great American institution, that court ruled that a hot-dog is not a full meal. . . . In brief, said, "You gotta have a restaurant under the state liquor control act." . . . Come to think of it, most local spots are so equipped. . . . Even with the pickle in the middle.

THE SEASON here is getting under way earlier than usual. . . . Many notables of the film world, stage and business, are already here. . . . Arriving last weekend at La Siesta bungalows where Esther Gilbert and Ruth Jones, dispense hospitality, were Lana Turner and Mrs. Keenan Wynn. And around town at most of the spots, you see faces associated with big names. . . . That's hearsay, however, because I caught a germ this week and haven't been circulating. . . . Must have been out of town where I got it because there are no germs here. . . . Have a very good doctor, however. . . . He prescribed: "Just stay in at night and take quinine and bourbon." . . . I'm still looking for the quinine.

NEXT WEEK is going to be a lot of weeks. . . . Starting off, Sunday is Navy Day, birthday of the late Teddy Roosevelt and set aside to honor the U. S. Navy. . . . It was back in 1907 that T.R. sent the mighty— for that time—U. S. Navy on a world cruise to let the rest of the nations, including Japan, which was getting a little uppity over the alien exclusion act, see just what we had in the way of fighting ships. . . . It was his way of "speaking softly but carrying a big stick." . . . A few years ago the government did just the opposite. . . . Starting Sunday is Girl Scout Week. The organization will be 35 years old and local Girl Scouts and their leaders plan a full observance of the event. . . . Next week will also be "Air Mail Week." . . . The post office is really boosting business. . . . Last week it was "Letter Writing Week," and next week, "Air Mail Week." . . . But you can send an air mail letter for five cents now. . . . Only two cents more than regular mail but two days faster.

THE MAIL this week, while plentiful, wasn't so good for reprint. . . . Too many writers seemed to have had a bad week or were suffering from indigestion. . . . There were a lot of personal peevish vented. . . . Not directed at me, I like to be insulted when it's done intelligently. . . . But many of the gripes were directed toward civic affairs and some I knew, personally, to be erroneous. . . . City officials are doing their best and should be encouraged rather than slammed. . . . And the most libelous letters were signed "Anonymous," a signature that's an automatic waste-basket ticket. . . . There was one good one signed just with initials and if I can get the full name, it'll go in. . . . Oh, yes, there were three or four on the Bench question.

AND IN CLOSING—Buy a ticket to the charity ball at the Racquet club and help the local Girl Scout council. . . . Which reminds me, Bob Bennett said the softball loop made a little money this year—and all of it is going to aid the Girl Scouts.

Girl Scouts Planning Busy 2-Week Session

Girl Scout Council of Palm Springs is looking forward to a busy two weeks with Girl Scout Week coming up next week and a big charity ball to further the work of the local council coming up November 6.

A full program has been outlined for Girl Scout week which starts Sunday when Scouts and Brownies will attend church services in complete regalia. Activities are planned for every day with a big birthday party slated for Sunday, November 3.

THE BIRTHDAY party will be staged on the Mashie court of the Desert Inn on November 3, celebrating the 35th birthday of Girl Scouting.

In the meantime, plans for the big charity ball to be staged at the Racquet club November 6 were being speeded today by the committee in charge.

Police Chief A. G. Kettmann bought the first ticket for the event and the sale has been brisk since. A meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Ransom at which time plans for the charity ball were completed.

THE EVENT, under the auspices of the Woman's club, will start at 8 p. m. and the advance ticket sale has already been brisk. All proceeds will go toward furthering the work of the local Girl Scout council of which Mrs. Arthur E. Bailey is head.

On the committee in charge of the ticket sale for the ball are Mrs. Robert Ransom, Mrs. A. E. Bailey, Mrs. H. M. F. Behneman, Mrs. Harold Murphy, Mrs. Barney Hinkle, Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mrs. Mary Jane Hicks, Mrs. Frances Bigelow, Mrs. Joan McManus, Mrs. Gwen Costello, Mrs. Evelyn Pucell.

Tickets may be obtained from any of these women or from Miss Beverly Ransom at the Plaza. Reservations must be made after ticket purchase with the Racquet club.

City Ambulance Burns up Pavement

Shrieking sirens, rarely heard in the Village, blasted a way through thick traffic for the city ambulance Wednesday when two calls came in within a few minutes.

First call came from the Car-nell building where Mrs. Elizabeth Cheney had fallen and suffered a fractured hip.

Almost immediately afterwards a call came to the police that Alvin Lovingood of the Araby tract had suffered a stroke.

Both were rushed to Community hospital for treatment.

Unification of School Boards Here Planned

A meeting of the governing boards of the Desert, Edom and Palm Springs High School districts was held this week at the Frances Stevens school offices to take preliminary steps to unite the Edom Elementary school district of Thousand Palms to the Desert School District of Palm Springs.

The Desert school district embraces the Frances Stevens school and the Desert Hot Springs, Cathedral City and Cathedral City schools. It was agreed at the meeting that petitions should be circulated in the Edom elementary school district to determine whether or not a majority of the electors living in that district were in favor of having their elementary school district united to the Desert school district.

WITHIN 24 HOURS after the school trustees agreed that the trial petitions should be circulated in Edom, Mrs. V. D. Waldron, one of the Edom trustees, returned to the high school office a petition signed by 26 of the electors of the Edom district favoring unification with the Desert school district. This number of electors is within eight of the total number of eligible electors in the east side district, thus constituting considerably more than a majority.

The agreement at the joint meeting early this week was that if Edom succeeded in getting more than a majority of electors to sign the petition, the same petition would be circulated within the desert school district. It is the plan of the trustees of the local high school district and the desert school district to circulate this petition election day, November 5, to qualified electors.

THE CAMPAIGN to get the required number of signatures—approximately 1500—will be continued for one week after the election. If a majority of electors sign this petition the petitions from both districts will then be sent to the county superintendent of schools. Legal processes for unification will then operate until one elementary district with one governing board results from the merger.

Should the Edom district be united with the Desert school district, both districts being embraced by the Palm Springs Union High School district, the high school district will then cease to be a Union district, but the boundaries of both the elementary and secondary school districts will be continuous, in which case, one of two major requirements will have been met in the direction of making a unified school district for the Palm Springs area. The second major requirement to be met before total unification of the school

Record Crowds Attend Western Week Here

Parade and Rodeo Huge Success

More People Here Than Ever Before, Claim Old Timers

Third anniversary of Western Week closed in a blaze of glory last night and its observance was instrumental in bringing one of the largest conventions here in the history of the Village.

According to old timers, there were more people in Palm Springs from Monday until Thursday than at any time in their memory, for this time of the year.

THE LOS COMPADRES, sponsors of Western Week and behind all of the activity which took place this third anniversary, said it was the biggest thing they ever tackled and expect that next year's observance will even be greater.

The crowds that swelled into town by far eclipsed the throngs that were attracted to the Village during circus week of last April.

The parade that filed down Palm Canyon drive, although not as long as the Circus parade, stretched for a mile or more and was close to an hour in passing any given point. Entries were confined entirely to horsemen's associations and riding clubs. No floats, advertising businesses in the Village or elsewhere, were permitted to take part.

THE NIGHT TIME RODEO held at the Field Club was a huge success from a standpoint of attendance. Nearest calculation was that close to 4000 persons witnessed the first big time night rodeo held in Palm Springs.

Mel LaVigne, Villager, came away from the rodeo with a prized saddle horse and all of the trappings.

Last night more than 2000 persons attended the dance at the Palm Springs Tennis Club also held under the auspices of the Los Compadres. Admission was gained at $1 per person and all of the money from the event and the rodeo profits was slated for some worthwhile civic organization in the city.

THE KANGAROO COURTS were held nearly every day in the city, it was reported, in addition to bringing a great deal of mirth to witnesses was also productive of large sums of money. In one case, an Easterner who was dragged before Lew Fields, Kangaroo Court judge, when asked how much his fine should be answered nothing less than $500 and was so fined. He, however, provided that the amount be given to the Girl Scouts of Palm Springs.

The beneficiary, according to public announcements preceding and during the four days of Western Week, was the Palm Springs Girl Scouts.

California World Style Center, Said

"American men are the best dressed in the world and in my opinion California is the sports style center of the world."

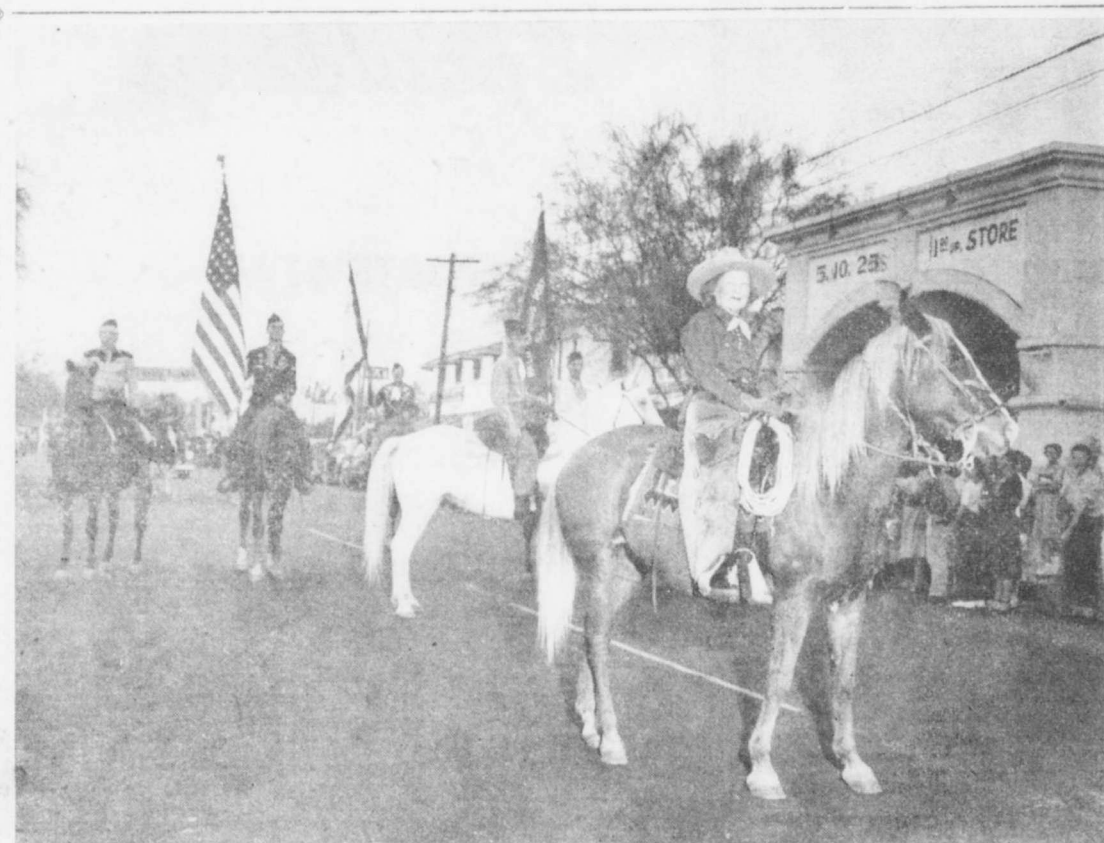

So declared Eric Prah (pronounced Prole), executive of the Nordiska Kompaniet, Stockholm, Sweden, who was here at the Men's Wear convention.

The company for whom he traveled all the way to Palm Springs does $13,500,000 annual business, of which $2,500,000 represents retail sales of men's and boys' wear. The Nordiska company is similar to any department store in the United States but in addition operates a chain of food stores throughout Sweden.

"I WAS FEARFUL of coming to the United States to buy men's clothes," declared Prah, "because of the tremendous difference in the exchange of our Kronen for American dollars."

But he added he was here and had bought much clothing in New York city which he regretted somewhat.

"I spent too much time in New

Vivid Colors Mark Men's Fashion Show

By BILL RASHALL

Fashion shows for men, an event previously unheard of and only kidded about between rugged males when poking fun at feminine fashion shows, took place at the Palm Springs Tennis club yesterday.

And to say that it took place hardly tells the story. It was an event crowded with spectators who watched male mannequins parade and pivot in men's fashions while Rudy Valee, M.C.'d the show. Colors: royal blue, beige, golden brown, green, sand color and many more hues than can be found in the rainbow brought forth ah's and oh's from both men and women.

A PSYCHOLOGIST present during the showing remarked that modern man has always hungered for gay and fanciful color combinations. Now he is going to have an opportunity to wear them, he said. Another person remarked that: the old one about the wife who feels better when she buys a gaily colored hat can now be applied to the man who will only have to step down to the haberdashery and purchase a new vermillion colored shirt.

SUCH CONVERSATIONS as usually went on between husband and wife about the dress she was to wear for a party will be reversed in the future. Something like this:

"Honey, I think I'll wear my

Johnny Boyle Hurt In Parade Mishap

Johnny Boyle, well-known local cowboy musician whose guitar playing has embellished many breakfast rides for local horsemen, won't be strumming his favorite western tunes for a while.

The horse he was riding in Wednesday afternoon's big parade became fractious as the parade crossed Baristo road and threw Boyle to the pavement.

He was taken to Community hospital where a fracture of his left arm was given treatment.

Rev. O'Conner To Return to Local Pulpit

The Rev. M. J. O'Conner, former pastor of Our Lady of Solitude, Catholic church, who left the pulpit here when the war started to serve as chaplain in the U. S. Army, will return to resume his duties here, it was announced today.

Father O'Conner has scores of friends here who will be happy to learn that he is returning.

The Rev. Francis L. McGann, who has been serving at the church for the past few months, is leaving to establish a new church at Palm City, near San Diego. During his tenure here as pastor of Our Lady of Solitude, he made many friends who will regret to hear of his departure.

Father C. J. Moynihan arrived this week at Our Lady of Solitude to be assistant pastor.

Amvets To Meet

Transportation Will Be Ready Tonight

Members of the Palm Springs post of American Veterans of World War II, will hold their semi-monthly MEETING TODAY, in the Legion Hall at Rancho Mirage. Frank Bogert, commander, will call the session to order at 8 p. m. and he also announced that those not having transportation to the meeting place will meet in front of the American Express company. There, these members will be picked up and driven to Rancho Mirage and back after the meeting.

At this meeting a committee of the Owen Coffman post of the American Legion is expected to make a formal call and discuss matters pertaining to the American Legion Wars Memorial building.

Fowler Hired As Manager By Employers

Simultaneously with the announcement that the Palm Springs Employer's Association plans to back Earl Strebe in his fight against union dictatorship of his theatres here, was the news that a manager was hired by the Association to conduct its affairs.

The new manager, who will make his offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, is Freeman Fowler, former businessman and member of the city council of Laguna Beach. Fowler, who is in his late forties, is the father of two sons, one of whom is attending Annapolis. He is expected to start work here immediately and will be assisted in his efforts by Harry Harper, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Harper was given permission to aid by the chamber's board of directors. One of the first things on the new manager's program, it is understood, will be a campaign to recruit members for the Employer's Association.

FOLLOWING a heated meeting between unionists and executive members of the Employer's Association the parting remark of the labor leaders was that every economic measure that they can bear to bring against Earl Strebe and his theatres would be taken.

The main point of differences between the Union men and Earl Strebe did not center around either wages, hours of work, or working conditions. The union men admitted that as far as salaries, employees of the Strebe theatres were being paid more than the union scale and the same was true insofar as conditions or the number of hours at work.

HOWEVER, one of the major points of argument brought forth by the union men was that a union projectionist who worked for Strebe at one time wants to return to Palm Springs for the winter at least and cannot be because the Strebe theatres are not

Let's Go Western on Election Day

By Ethel Gillett Whitehorn

The people of California knew exactly what they wanted when, four years ago, they elected Earl Warren the Governor of California. They knew, again, when they re-elected him in June of this year.

Western people admire and respect a solid man who radiates a strength of purpose which all can understand. Governor Warren is such a man.

Nothing irritates the westerners more than an intrusion into their political affairs. Consequently, when James Roosevelt, aided and abetted by Will Rogers Jr., beckoned to Mr. Henry Wallace, who couldn't be tolerated in national government circles any longer, to come to California and show us yokels how to vote, somebody was bound to rear up in the saddle. That somebody was Governor Warren. And when he reared, the people reared with him.

YESTERDAY was the day that Henry Wallace, carpet bag in hand, made a personal appearance at the Los Angeles Biltmore. He spoke under the auspices of the C.I.O.-PAC and the Hiccapers (Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions). These two groups are moving Heaven and earth to elect Junior Rogers to the United States Senate; James Shelley, lieutenant governor, and Edmund Brown, attorney general.

Governor Warren, backed by the loyal citizens of California, has bluntly expressed his opinion of carpet baggers, who enter our state to control elections. On Tuesday, November 5, James Roosevelt, who extended the invitations to the carpet baggers, will learn to his political sorrow, that the voters of California, being rugged westerners, can neither be bought nor sold.

THE PEOPLE of California elected Governor Warren because he is a solid man. They will elect Knight and Fred Howser because William F. Knowland, Goodwin they are solid men.

The Golden State of California is the state of golden opportunity. Governor Warren knows that. So do the people. California must be free to seek its great future development. No state can be free when its high offices are manned by individuals who bend the knee to PAC and Hissasp pro-communist philosophy.

The people of California re-elected Governor Warren because he believes, as they do, in true Americanism. They know the importance of electing men who will strengthen his administration because their ideals match his. The reason why, on November 5, the voters of California will elect, with overwhelming majorities — William Knowland, Goodwin Knight, and Fred Howser.

Beachcombers At Mr. Dee's

Reg Valencia and his Beachcombers will open an engagement tonight at Mr. Dee's, Dave Lyons, manager, said today.

The Beachcombers have just closed a long and successful engagement at the La Jolla Beach club where Lyons heard them and engaged them for the local spot.

"You'll like 'em," he said. "They're good."

The Beachcombers will furnish music for nightly dancing at Mr. Dee's starting tonight.

Masons To Meet Tuesday

First meeting of the season for the Masonic club will be held next Tuesday noon at the Desert Inn, it was announced today.

President John Archibald will preside.

Speaker of the day will be William O. Mackey of Riverside.

All local and visiting Masons are urged to attend but reservations should be made at once through Mr. Archibald.

Republicans To Meet on Monday

Members of the Palm Springs Republican committee were advised today by Mrs. Melba Bennett, chairman, that an important meeting of the committee will be held Monday at 11 a. m. at the Fiesta House on the Desert Inn grounds.

Important matters in connection with the Nov. 5 election are on the agenda.

Child Welfare

Second Child Welfare clinic of the new season will be next Tuesday, Mrs. Madge Holderman, public health nurse, said today.

The first clinic, held on the last Tuesday in September, saw more than 70 babies brought by their mothers for observation by Dr. Mildred Van Cleve, county pediatrician.

Southern Pacific Orders 20 More New Diesel Locomotives

Twenty powerful Diesel-electric freight locomotives have been ordered by the Southern Pacific company, A. T. Mercier, president, announced yesterday.

The new freight Diesels are for main line operation and are in addition to the recent purchase of five powerful new passenger Diesels. Together with the company's other Diesel-electric engines, they will comprise one of the largest fleets of railroad Diesel-electrics in the United States.

"THIS IMPORTANT purchase of new main line freight Diesels is significant as a recognition of the development of the Pacific Coast during recent years," said Mr. Mercier.

The new Diesels will be of 6000 horsepower, or equal to that of the Southern Pacific's most powerful steam locomotives, including the huge articulated-consolidation steam engines with cab in front, an exclusive Southern Pacific design.

Purchase of the new Diesel power is the outgrowth of a survey of Pacific Lines power requirements and recent notable developments in the railroad motive power field, it was stated. The committee making this survey and analysis included specialists of the operating, motive power, engineering and transportation research departments.

No State Funds To Be Used for Vets' Homes Under No. 1

Purchases of farms or homes for veterans under Proposition No. 1 on the November 5 ballot will not be financed with state tax funds but with private capital, Senator Irwin T. Quinn of Eureka, chairman of the committee on military and veterans affairs of the California State Senate, explained today.

Quinn pointed out that the $100,000,000 state bond issue provided by Proposition No. 1, like five previous issues approved by the voters since 1921 for the farm and home program, will be sold to private financial interests. The bonds will be retired over a 20-year period through repayment of veterans purchase contracts, with no tax funds being required at any time.

"This low cost financing program enables the state to assist its veterans in acquiring homes and farms within their usually limited means," Quinn said.

Under the state plan, a California veteran may obtain $7500 on the purchase of a home valued at not more than $10,000, or $13,500 on a farm with a valuation not in excess of $15,000. With recent reductions in interest from five to three per cent a veteran purchaser may obtain a $6500 home, for example, with monthly payments of $34.27 a month on a 20 year contract.

MEAT PRICES

Today's high meat prices worry us, too. We know we can sell more meat when prices are low. Furthermore, we believe meat prices will go down soon and we'll probably have to take some inventory losses when they do. But whatever the price, we feel we have an obligation to have supplies available and to let customers decide whether they want to buy. We pledge you that our prices at all times will be as low as we can possibly make them based on costs to us and earning only a fair profit.

JUST PART of the crowd that attended the cocktail party given by Jack Barenfeld at the Colonial House last Tuesday evening. Gathered there were the men who sell the machinery, that makes the clothes which in turn is sold to the manufacturer who wholesales his creations to the retailer and the average man buys to wear. From left to right seated they are: Bill Brexn, Chicago J. C. Penney Co., Bill Weitlich, J. P. Stevens Co., W. G. Englert, New York City Singer Sewing Machine Co., Jack Barenfeld, host and owner of Don Juan Co., Los Angeles; Wilbur P. Davis, manager of the Colonial House; W. G. Stoll, Sears and Roebuck, Chicago; Dick White, sales engineer Singer Sewing machine company, New York City; Jack Callen, Cliff Edwards and C. B. Garrett, all of the J. P. Stevens Co. of New York City. (Gayle Studio Photo).

Visiting Tycoons of Industry Gather At Cocktail Party at Colonial House

Of the many cocktail parties that took place in Palm Springs during the Men's Wear convention, the one which took place at the Colonial House on Tuesday evening, hosted by Jack Barenfeld for two hundred of his friends was perhaps one of the most outstanding as represented by the number of magnates of the clothing industry who were present.

In the group were representatives of the Singer Sewing Machine company, celebrating its centennial; executives of the J. P. Stevens Co., operators of forty-two rayon, wool, and cotton mills in the United States; national buyers for the Sears and Roebuck stores and the J. C. Penney company. Also present were representatives of one of Chicago's finest department store, Carson-Pirie-Scott.

It was pointed out that in the combination of those who were present the destiny of what men shall wear and the price they will pay to wear it, was represented. Jack Barenfeld, the host, and owner of the Don Juan Company of California, manufacturers of sport shirts and leisure coats, reported that the persons present at the convention were here in a buying mood.

"There may be some question as to where the style capitol of the world for feminine wear is," declared Barenfeld, "but when it comes to the creation of styles for men's sportswear, the world turns its eyes to Los Angeles."

This statement was borne out by the registration of delegates to the convention from all over the world.

MORE ABOUT . . .

district can be achieved, is that the personnel of the two governing boards must be identical.

SURVEYS are being conducted in California at present with a view to getting more unified school districts. A unified school district has a single board of control for all grades from the kindergarten through the 12th, or through the 14th where districts are large enough to embrace a junior college. There is a trend in California school administration favoring the establishment of unified districts over the dual systems of control which characterize many existing school attendance areas where the elementary schools have a governing board separate from the governing board of the secondary school.

Provision for uniting two or more elementary schools which are contiguous is provided for by section 2.160 of the California School Code.

TRUSTEES of the local school districts in their meeting this week were unanimous in favoring further unification of school districts in this area. They expressed the belief in their conference that unification of the kind planned would result in greater efficiency and economy in local school organization. It was pointed out that with fewer governing boards and a better coordinated instructional program, more adequate teaching services and better equipment could be offered to the students of the district on all levels of instruction.

Present at the joint meeting this week were, members of the high school board: Mr. Charles J. Burket, president; Mr. Gordon Feehings, clerk; Dr. Frank Purcell and Mr. Willard Hillery, Desert School District; Mr. Willard Hillery, president; Mrs. Marjory Outcault, Edom School District; Mr. D. D. Wallace, president, and Mrs. Henry Lenzie. Superintendents Katherine Finchy and Ernest E. Oertel, were also present at the meeting.

Road Into Resort Area May Be Part Of U. S. System

The Banning-Idyllwild road, under construction for several years and now nearing completion, may be included in the United States Forestry highway system and improved in the very near future, Assemblyman Philip Boyd of Palm Springs informed the county board of supervisors at their meeting Monday at Riverside.

On the suggestion of Mr. Boyd, the supervisors authorized County Counsel Earl Redwine to prepare an official resolution asking the federal government formally to include the highway in the forest service system.

ASSEMBLYMAN BOYD SAID he had been informed by C. B. Cravens, county road superintendent, that the road will be completed ready for paving in a year or less. Funds will be available for paving in 1948, it is believed.

A first class highway from Bannigan to Idyllwild has long been a dream of San Geronimo Pass residents and the struggle to get it dates back so far that most of those who started it are no longer here. It will open to the public the most beautiful part of the San Jacinto recreational area which lies on the north side of the mountains. There are two other principal routes into the San Jacinto mountains, one via Palm Springs and the other by way of Hemet.

No Changes Here as
OPA Ceilings Lifted

Chances are that Villagers will not feel the effect of yesterday's OPA decision to decontrol all food and drink prices.

A quick check up and down Palm Canyon drive yesterday revealed the almost unanimous decision of restaurateurs and drink mixologists to maintain present prices.

The OPA Wednesday abolished ceilings on restaurant prices and on drinks, effective at midnight last night.

But Villagers and visitors today were paying the same prices they did before the ceiling was lifted in practically every spot in town. "Why," said one man in white as he juggled the jigger, "should I hike prices? I'm making enough now. The only real effect the ruling will have is that some of the old-time brands, hard to get, will be back on the shelves again, soon."

It is wonderful what strength of purpose and boldness and energy of will are roused by the assurance that we are doing our duty. —Scott.

MORE ABOUT . . .

in his country wear heavy woolen clothing the year around and it is this habit his company is going to try and change.

PRAHL said that during the summer months in Sweden the weather is extremely hot and humid and he saw no reason why the men of that country should suffer under the weight of heavy tweeds and woollens.

"Why," he asked, "cannot the men of Sweden wear lightweight casual clothes like the people of this country? Well, my country is going to try to change this."

He added that he could buy enough men's sportswear and get immediate shipment, the campaign to change the clothing habits of the male in Sweden would begin next summer.

IN DISCUSSING price controls here in the United States, Prahl could not understand why they did not work. In his country every commodity including rents is under strict price regulations. "Of course," Prahl added, "the price is controlled all the way from the raw material to the finished product and its sale on the retail market."

Price structure and profit is controlled on everything Prahl said and people are making money, earning fair profits. Rents too are under strict supervision. The only increase allowed landlords since the close of the war Prahl said was for the supply of fuel. Coal in Sweden is scarce, the Swede said and most establishments are forced to use wood.

"EVERYBODY has plenty of food in Sweden," Prahl said, "and we are shipping a good share of it to war torn Europe."

Prahl speaks almost faultless English. During his schooling in both Sweden and Finland he learned the basic principles of the language and then went to England where he worked in department stores and factories as part of his commercial training. He is 39 years of age, married and the father of three children. He was one of the first university students to specialize in business as a major.

Must Change the Picture Now To End Confusion the Nation Is Now in, Says Villager, Addressing Club at Banning

"The only way to straighten out the confusion we are in is to change the picture and change it now," Mrs. Ethel Gillett Whitehorn, political editor of The Palm Springs Desert Sun, told members of the Banning Kiwanis club in a talk Friday noon on "America, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." "It must be a new Congress," Mrs. Whitehorn said, declaring, "What we most desperately need in Washington today are men like our own Congressman, John Phillips."

The earliest settlers came to America seeking freedom, Mrs. Whitehorn said, recalling American history. From their revolt to gain this freedom came the Constitution which guarantees it. The first experiment to divide the union was the civil war. Fortunately there was a leader in Washington great enough to prevent the country's being permanently divided. We do not have any such leadership in Washington today, she declared.

There is an attempt today to divide us, the speaker said, and lacking leadership it is up to us to step out and protect our freedoms.

OURS is a government by law but through apathy we have permitted it to become a government by bureaucrats who have never had a business or a farm or had to meet a payroll, Mrs. Whitehorn declared. The government is now paying over three million employees in bureaus and the President has asked for $252,000,000 for additional employees in the bureau of propaganda and publicity. We can not be free with a 271 billion dollar debt on which two billion dollars interest must be paid annually and nine billion annual government payroll, the speaker declared.

Spokane, was brought here by the Los Compadres and added considerable to the celebration of Western Week. The last convention held here by that organization was back in 1942 when only 500 persons attended. At least 2500 persons were in the city during the past four days and this number was swelled considerably on Thursday when merchants from Los Angeles, San Francisco and other metropolitan centers flocked to the city in order to witness the fashion show at the Tennis Club.

All residents of the Village entered into the spirit of Western Week and in the majority went about attired in all or part of Western gear. Many of the easterners who came here to attend the convention were seen flocking into stores on Palm Canyon drive to buy Western regalia. All of these stores reported business in Western gear running at an unprecedented figure.

Drawn by the magnetism of the Men's Wear convention, foreigners from Sweden, France, England, Capetown, South Africa, and other parts of the world came to Palm Springs and had a swell time during Western Week. The group from Sweden declared they intend to return here again next year.

Del Mar golden outfit—it's just gorgeous.

"Oh, Jack! That outfit just doesn't do your figure justice. I think you ought to wear the casual Palomino ensemble with the La Quinta chapeau," the wife will reply.

AND THE ABOVE conversation will take place, according to the best authority in the men's fashion world. If you were present at the Men's Fashion show at the Palm Springs Tennis Club yesterday you would believe it too.

Personally, I have seen most everything but it was all topped with the fashion show for men yesterday.

I LEFT the place madly writing notes of the conversation I had heard on both sides of me. I saw hardened Los Compadres sitting with their mouths wide open gazing in wonderous awe at the beautiful things they are going to call men's clothing.

I heard a publisher tell his wife: "My mouth is just watering for some of those outfits, honey."

On another side I heard a wife tell her husband: "I suppose I won't be able to buy a suit of clothes for a year when you get through buying the stuff you saw today." On aside she later told me, she couldn't blame him if he did. The fashions in her opinion were just out of this world.

THEY SHOULD BE. The men who created them have lived in a country where casual sportswear was only a matter of natural evolution compatible with surrounding nature. All of the colors of the desert, mountains, seashore and everything that is California has been captured in those sports fashions for men and boys.

I left the place—the Tennis Club, talking to myself. "Listen," I said to me, "You just witnessed something you've never seen before—a fashion show for men. Imagine!"

THAT MASCULINE yen for colors in his habiliments has always been within him but suppressed, inhibited, I'm thinking, just as the psychologist said. Now it can be reported that he will have an opportunity of stepping right out in just any gorgeous color he decides on with the possible exception of pink, as a Swedish buyer of men's clothing pointed out to me.

The next sportswear fashion show is expected to take place here again next year. At the Tennis Club during two showings, the mannequins paraded to standing room only. When the news of what was shown there gets around—and it will, the fashion show of October 24, 1947, may have to be held at the Field Club instead of the rodeo.

operated as a closed "shop." The struggle between the theater management here and the unions has been going on some 12 years, it was learned. At all time, however, Strebe has paid better than union scale for projectionists and observed to the letter the working conditions as laid down by unions for their members.

REPRESENTING the union here in the discussion was L. L. Carlyle, and John R. Hunt of the Riverside county central labor council; Thomas Bolus, projectionist union at Hemet, and A. B. Cooper of Los Angeles who has been negotiating unsuccessfully with Strebe for the past eight or nine months.

Present in behalf of the Palm Springs Employer's Association were Lee Bering, president; Frank Bennett, vice president; Earl Coffman, executive director; Lyle Newcomer, attorney for the association; Milton Hicks and Earl Strebe.

FOR A TIME at least it seemed that tempers were about to get the best of those in the heated argument and threatened to break out into physical violence.

"I won't kneel to any union," shouted Strebe, "that wants to tell me how to run my own business, whom I can hire and whom I can discharge for inefficiency."

In this declaration the Employer's Association pledged that it would give Strebe every assistance in its power as due any businessman in a village such as Palm Springs.

Lee Bering, president of the organization, had plenty to say about the attempt of the union to "board this town up" as he said, "with a closed shop" contract.

"WE FEEL," he emphasized, "that any man doing business in this city can, as 99 per cent of them do, pay higher wages than the Union says can be paid, hire intelligent and efficient help and have the right to screen out such employees as are not wanted in any particular business."

"This is our last trip to Palm Springs," the union representatives shouted back, "from now on it's going to be war!"

Art Exhibit Will Accompany Lecture On Desert Artist

To coincide with Edmund C. Jaeger's guest talk on Carl Eytel, sponsored by the Desert Museum this Saturday night, October 26, is an exhibition of some original water colors, pen-and-inks, and pencil sketch notebooks of this famous early desert artist, who first came to Palm Springs when there were only a few houses here. These rare notebooks and drawings were loaned by Mr. Jaeger.

Carl Eytel was born in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1884. He came to America as a very young boy, then returned to Europe to study art.

HE CAME to the Colorado desert about 1900, and three years later met the noted author George Wharton James, who was then working on a two-volume book about the desert. He commissioned Eytel to illustrate, and the drawings made for that book, published in 1907 as "The Wonders of the Colorado Desert," immediately established Eytel as the premier desert artist.

In 1927 Eytel, by then world-renowned for his informal sketches of the desert, died in Banning, and was buried in the Indian cemetery, the only white man to be interred there up to that time.

THESE SKETCH-BOOKS are filled with partial details of animal study, of rock formations, of Indians, and of trees. Some are complete drawings; others, merely fragments. Some were made on the back of cheap stationery and scraps of paper. All have that inimitable Eytel touch.

Edmund Jaeger is the author of the books: "The California Deserts," "California Desert Wildflowers," "Denizens of the Desert," and many others. He is head of the zoology department at Riverside college.

Mental Processes Must Be Sharp To Score at Bridge

(Today is printed another interesting series of articles on bridge, written by Miss Anne Vaughan for The Desert Sun.

Do you know what the Curse of Scotland is? The Curse of Scotland is the nine of diamonds. The catch phrase is at least two hundred years old, so old that its origin is uncertain but so permanent that it has a place in the Encyclopedia Britannica. The most popular story dates back to 1746. At that time Scotland was torn by civil war. Prince Charles Edward favored joining in the formation of an alliance to be known as Great Britain, and the Highlanders under the leadership of the Duke of Cumberland were fighting to preserve their independence.

On the eve of the fateful battle of Culloden the Duke was interrupted in a game of cards by one of his henchmen. Not having any paper handy he dashed off his infamous ultimatum on the first card handy—the nine of diamonds. The ultimatum was that during the forthcoming battle no quarter was to be given, all prisoners were to be killed on the spot. The name of the Duke of Cumberland was anathema in his own country thereafter. So be careful when you are playing cards, if you hold the nine of diamonds you are holding a curse—don't lose your money.

AND DON'T lose your head if you should happen to have a hand full of face cards.

You might have four aces and four kings which surely makes a rich looking hand but you can take only six tricks with them, only the book. It takes more than face cards to make a game, distribution is a powerful factor.

Furthermore your partnership language must be up to the mark, for the success of the game depends absolutely on team work. And don't forget psychology.

CONTRACT BRIDGE is one of the highest forms of mental recreation. Like anything else worth while it takes effort to master the mechanics of the game, but if you have ordinary mentality it is worth your while to make the effort.

Pep up your mental apparatus, it is the thinkers who rule the world. In spite of all the writings and orating in the world Jeffersonian democracy will outlive Jacksonian democracy.

Best Design for Air Week Sought By Postmaster Here

Next week is National Air Mail week and Postmaster R. M. Gorham is seeing to it that Palm Springs does its part in the observance.

Miss Margaret Michel of the art department at Palm Springs high school has selected some of her best students to design posters for the event. The winning design will be published in the Desert Sun.

PALM SPRINGS now has fast air mail service to Los Angeles and to all points in the nation. Air mail letters placed in the post office here by 8 a. m. are in Los Angeles via Western Air Line planes at 10:34 and from there are dispatched to all points.

Price of air mail has been lowered to five cents and Postmaster Pop Gorham called attention to the fact that it only costs two cents more for an air mail letter but to the east coast it is two days faster.

"Just a cent to save a day," he said.

AIR MAIL HISTORY was recalled by the postmaster today. "It was on December 17, 1903, that the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N. C., first took an airplane off the ground. Seven years later, on June 14, 1910, first mention of possible air mail service was made in Congress and a year later the first air mail was flown on a short route in New York.

"But it wasn't until May 15, 1918, that regular air mail service was started.

"NOW THERE are 75,745 route miles of domestic air mail service. The average letter mailed out of this office travels 1509 miles.

"And if you like more statistics," he added, "In 1941 there were only 166 planes operating mail service. Today there are more than 700."

"And it only costs five cents a letter."

Story of Growth Of Mt. San Jacinto Told at Museum

One of the feature exhibits of the geological story of the San Jacinto mountains, shown by diagrams and rock specimens.

The museum's director, Lloyd Mason Smith, indicated that there were six main stages in the formation of this massive mountain range directly behind Palm Springs and to the top of which the tramway will reach. These stages are deposition of sedimentary rock layers; intrusion of the first igneous molten rock from beneath; alteration of the over-lying rocks by the great heat and pressure of the first intrusion; the invasion of granite; gradual elevation and faulting; raising the entire range; and erosion, removing the top soils and exposing the granite core.

A COLORED GEOLOGICAL map of the Palm Springs area shows the distribution of the various types of rock to be found here, which broadly speaking, number three: Granite, granite gneiss, and metamorphics. Specimens of these three types are displayed beneath the map.

This exhibit is only one of several to be seen now at the Desert Museum, located in the east wing of the library off Palm Canyon Drive. There is no charge for any museum activity, and the public is cordially welcomed to attend not only the museum, but also the regular series of nature walks, lectures, and movie showings each week.

Plan Field Trip To Eagle Canyon

As its second field-trip of the season, the Desert Museum has chosen another out-of-the-way spot: beautiful Eagle canyon, which is the canyon this side (west) of Cathedral Canyon.

It contains a group of palms and a spring, and is not more than three miles round trip from the parking area in the lower canyon.

Those interested in going, Museum Director Lloyd M. Smith announced, should be in front of the museum promptly at 12:30.

"If you have no car, come anyway, since there is always extra car-space," he said. "The party will return by 4:00. There is no steep climbing involved, but wear comfortable walking shoes."

Troop 39 Changes Meeting Night to Tuesday as Before

Troop 39 Boy Scout troop recently changed the meeting night back to Tuesday at 7:00 p. m., the same as last year. All boys, 12 years of age and older, are invited to join the troop. The Scout Hut is located just south of the Builder's Supply company.

In addition to the Cobra, and Wolf patrols, a new patrol has been added, the Bat patrol, with Ronald French, patrol leader, and Roy Eldridge as assistant patrol leader.

THE TROOP is working feverishly preparing for the pow-wow at Riverside next Sunday. Several teams will be entered in each of the 15 events with first aid and signaling being given the most work.

With Robert Hillery as chairman, committees under Robert Higgins, Kenneth Youngs and Don DuBose worked hard getting ready to handle the concessions at the rodeo Wednesday night. The Scouts sold cold drinks, hot dogs and ice cream.

THE CUCARACHAS have invaded the Scout Hut. "They are eating up our books and stuff. We are smashing them but guess we'll have to put out some poison," the Scout scribe reported. "The troop hereby gratefully wishes to thank Leo of Sam and Leo's for the donation of water-melons for our recent feed at the Hut," he added.

Juvenile Problem Officer's Topic at Rotarians' Meeting

Telling of the increasing problem of juvenile delinquency and steps being taken to curb it, Harold Butterfield, Riverside county probation officer, addressed the Palm Springs Rotary club at a meeting at Charley Farrell's Racquet club Wednesday.

On the same program the Rotarians paid tribute to the annual Navy Day, October 27. Florian Boyd, former Naval officer, outlined objects of Navy Day, and several others who served with the American naval forces in World War II were guests.

Rotarian Farrell was host to the club at his famous club on the last week before the group returns to a regular schedule of meetings at the Desert Inn on October 30. Robert Hargis, program chairman of the club, introduced the speakers.

Before Your Eyes
By BILL RASHALLThat old one came up again the other night and it was a subject of discussion by an impromptu gathering of seven Villagers. In the group was a councilman, realtor, drug store proprietor, night club operator, a minister who just listened, an off-duty policeman and of course yours truly.THE SUBJECT: "Should the town remain a village?" Then:
"Was it better in Palm Springs
15 years ago?" Also: "It would be better if the Village was aided and abetted in its growth now."Said the councilman: "It was better here 15, even 10 years ago.People came down here to rest and relax—play in the sun. It was much better. It should remain a Village."REALTOR: "Well it can remain a Village with proper residential restrictions and forethought in laying of new streets. We can still have a Village.""Drug store proprietor and night club operator: "Why don't they wake up? This isn't a Village any more. Why call it a Village? Let's reconcile ourselves to the fact that Palm Springs is not a sleepy little town anymore."THE POLICEMAN: "Can't see all this talking about something which is already beyond the control of any one in town. This is not a Village any more. During the winter months it is really a city."And the last sentiments were mine too. All the arguing one hears about keeping the town a Village! How is it possible to keep the boy from growing to manhood—or the Village, Palm Springs, that is, from becoming a desert center, such as Tucson or Phoenix? Right now people living within 15 miles of the city limits consider they are part of the life that goes on in Palm Springs. Many of them (ask Harry Harper) belong to the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce.OLD TIMERS with a nostalgic yen for the good old days realize that Palm Springs will never again be a Village—that it is beyond that stage and if steps to wisely control its growth are taken, everybody will be a lot better off. None of the color and loveliness of the town will be lost.I KNOW ONE man in this town who has lived here a long, long time, who has silently done more for Palm Springs than is generally known. He is Earl Coffman of the Desert Inn. Always during the height of the seasons that have come and gone, I know he has had a vacancy or two that could have been rented a dozen times at the hotel but which remained vacant. That is, they remained vacant until some notable person, legislator, congressman or senator, or governor

Mrs. Hitchner at Mausoleum but No Services Are Held

Clad modestly in black, with black hat and veil, Mrs. Ruth Marian Hitchner, accused slayer of her husband at their home here a little more than a week ago, Friday afternoon went to the mausoleum at Evergreen cemetery in Riverside for what was to have been brief services previous to cremation of the body.

Through some misunderstanding, however, no services were held, though an Episcopal minister from Beaumont was present and conferred with Mrs. Hitchner, who though showing little evidence of emotion, maintained a reverent attitude throughout the hour-long gathering, it was reported.

MRS. HITCHNER made the trip to the cemetery and return in a sheriff's office car, in charge of Deputy Oscar Wilson and Matron Grace Talbot.

No arrangements for funeral or cremation services yet have been made, it was stated.

According to county jail officials, Mrs. Hitchner is a model prisoner, quiet and co-operative. She spends most of her time reading, drawing upon the well stocked library in the women's quarters at the jail. She gets along well with her cell mate, with whom she converses at length, Matron Talbot said.

THE CHIEF ANNOYANCE experienced by the accused woman is lack of mirror. None are allowed prisoners, and denial of this vital necessity appears to rest heavily on Mrs. Hitchner. Accustomed to keeping herself immaculately groomed, she misses woman's number one beauty aid.

Since the night when officers say the Palm Springs housewife sent a bullet into her husband's stomach during a bitter quarrel, she has shown little evidence of emotion. Appearing calm and collected at all times, her poise yet has been unshaken.

New Business is Opened in Village By Mrs. Robinson

A new business, that of rental specialist, was started in the Village this week. It is a clearing house for rentals.

Mrs. Florence Robinson, who has been a resident of Palm Springs for several years, has been working on a solution of the room problem for many months. And is now seeking a location for that "May I help you?" agency when the overflow problem arises.

After talking with Phil Delano and Harry C. Harper of the Chamber of Commerce and receiving their approval of her endeavor, she has been seeking diligently for the proper business location.

Mrs. Robinson has been interviewing owners of hotels and private homes for several months and all are in accord with this venture. The idea is this:

All hotels and private homes are to list their vacancies with her and instead of the searcher driving around hopelessly and the kind hotel owner doing their utmost to place them—on time taken from regular duties—they will simply turn all over-flow to Mrs. Robinson.

Look Like a Million and Still Have That Comfortable Free Swing—That's Mens' Styles as Built in Southland

Men make world headlines with their achievements — long distance flights, world series, the Truculent Turtle, World Peace Conferences and now, to lighten the score, the male turns for a brief respite to the matter of attire. Comfortable, hi-styled California sportswear that makes a man look like a million and gives him that natural, free swing he likes.

From Monday through Thursday, yesterday, the Men's Wear Manufacturers and the Boys' Apparel Guild were in the Village and men's and boys' wear was the serious business of the day. No drab, dull discomfort styles here, California sportclothes will take the spotlight and the male will blossom out in the gay plumage nature intended the male to wear. Nature gave the male bird the bright plumage, but for years the human animal reversed the procedure and the male went about in dark, dull, drab, addicted to stiff collars, clothes that bound and fretted the male until it was no wonder his vocabulary wasn't fit for the ears of women and children.

BUT IN TIME the male rebelled and gradually sportclothes found their place in the sun. Men liked 'em and California made 'em just the way he liked 'em—plenty of style, colors, but colors muted to a man's taste and so comfortable that they gave comfort whether for active sports or general wear.

In the days of Henry VIII men wore colored silks embroidered with gold, but the style-conscious male of today goes in for sport coats or leisure jackets in a range of colors to make a rainbow jealous, patterned weaves, two-toned effects, plain and tattersal. And the choice of material is just as large, real suede, all-wool gabardine, 100% wool flannels, imported lambskin and many others. They feature full drape and lovely broad shoulders. Also in the jacket line are those that are water repellent and make such wonderful companions for hunting, fishing or rainy weather.

SLACKS run to the finest of virgin wool gabardines in beige, cocoa brown and muted blues and greens and some in patterned weaves. Deep knife pleats and hand-picked seams and extension waistbands seem to be the order of the day and the newest features.

Worn with the slacks and jackets are those wonderfully comfortable sport shirts that come in tones of beige, sand dune, and natural, grey, sungold, desert sage, and a heavenly shade of blue or even in pure whites. Many come with the shoulder yoke and sleeve cut in one piece which makes for comfort whether for general wear or active sports.

HATS SOUND TRICKY with a fur felt styled with the new balance-blocked drop-crown, there is also a Balibuntal straw called "Bali" which is blocked in an exclusive drop-tip telescope crown and adjustable three-way snap brim.

Hats sound tricky with a fur felt styled with the new balance-blocked drop-crown, there is also a Balibuntal straw called "Bali" which is blocked in an exclusive drop-tip telescope crown and adjustable three-way snap brim.

While these are the main items the male will go for such delightful items as walking shorts worn with a cardigan jacket, swim trunks worn with an "in or out" shirt when not in the water, marvelous toiletries in exciting packages and robes in a range of plain colors or stripes, and plaid and come styled in everything from Sanforized cotton to terry cloth, flannel and lovely silks.

Wednesday's frosh boy initiation was an occasion that will long be remembered, no doubt, by the freshmen boys. I bet they're wondering whose dire device that drastic penalty was.

Bob Sandeffer and Barton Arakalian made the cutest girls! Bob looked especially cool with Dick Henson on his shoulders!

The poster committee worked long and hard on the carnival posters you'll see displayed around town. We hope they'll bring profitable results next Friday!

SPEAKING of Mercy Rios (we weren't speaking of her but now that I've mentioned it) we now have three engaged girls in the senior class. (I wonder if they use Pond's). The other two are Phyllis Natch, and Mary Mitchell.

Did you notice the Studebaker advertisement, page 73, of last week's "Saturday Evening Post"? In the background, was the Colonial House, no less. Nothing like free publicity.

That new feature, "Classroom Chatter," was suggested by Mr. Sussman. . . even the title. It should prove "didactic," to use one of his favorite words.

Eighteen gals turned out for the drum majorette class conducted by Mr. Patzner, which only goes to show that P. S. H. is really reet and strictly in the know.

THE CLASSES are conducted each Tuesday and Friday during Activity Period, in case anyone else is interested.

Mr. Patzner, by the way, sure deserves a lot of praise and gratitude.

Besides getting the band out on the field for our games, he works faithfully with our cheerleaders, Lolo and Barbara, our majorettes (who did a vout, rooney job of majoretting, I understand).

For weeks now, Mr. Summers has been trying to get his physics class to see the light. Each day he calls the roll. . . "Aitkens, Backus. . ." and then pauses to see if anyone has yet caught on. So far no one has. Someday, he says, he is going to start out, "Oh, my Aitken Backus. . ." and illustrate same with appropriate gestures.

Isn't the following a profound thought?

Is more quietly chewed.
Celery, raw,
Develops the jaw.
But celery stewed
Is more quietly chewed.
Dig you later.

Drum Majorettes Add Color to School Activities and Boost P.S.H.S. Spirit

High school band and drum majorettes add local color and spirit to P. S. H. S. The P. S. H. S. Band and Drum Majorettes, conducted by G. Patzner, are a colorful addition to our school.

They not only increase our school spirit, but provide rhythm also.

The majorettes, dressed in maroon and white costumes, were Delores Vallier and Barbara Beeton.

Dick Henson, head cheer leader, with Bonnie Taylor and Daun Okerlund, as assistants, also help to put their program over.

They really did a grand job leading school yells and songs, although we lost to Beaumont 7 to 6 they really helped the team put up a good fight.

Student Body Pictures Taken

Panoramic pictures of the entire student body were taken during the first two periods on Monday, October 21. Pictures of the Girls' League and Tribe were also taken. The work was done by the Thompson Studios of Los Angeles.

The pictures, which will be ready in the near future, will be about 8 by 24 and be priced at a dollar each. Ten per cent of the proceeds will go into the school fund. The pictures are costing the school nothing and the company will make its money through sale of the pictures to the student body.

Traffic Safety Subject of Talk By Police Chief

The observance of Traffic Safety Week, Chief August Kettman addressed an assembly at Palm Springs High School, October 18, on ways and means of preventing traffic accidents in our village. He cited the following statistics:

1. During World War II, the United States suffered more casualties from traffic and industrial accidents than occurred in the war—something over the million mark.

2. Every 15 minutes someone is killed in a traffic accident and most accidents are actually collisions.

Chief Kettman declared that, as a whole, students are very good in following the general traffic and safety ordinances of this city. He concluded, "My only criticism is that the students are not observing the important rule of facing oncoming traffic while walking on the highway."

Mr. Summers took up the latter part of the assembly with a discussion of the importance of sports for boys. He pointed out, "It keeps them busy and also helps with the delinquency problem." He gave an example of a boy who was killed in his "hot rod," although his parents forbade him playing football, due to a slight accident he had received while playing.

He also congratulated many members of the team for their excellence on the field.

Freshmen Boys Create Sensation At Initiation

Freshmen boys of Palm Springs High School were officially initiated by the upperclassmen this Wednesday. The freshmen boys masqueraded as girls, and they caused quite a sensation with their various costumes.

The most outstanding student was Bobby Sandeffer, who made an excellent girl. Bobby Sandeffer commented that being a girl was "great," it seems that he thinks girls have more privileges.

Some of the other students who participated were Michael Van Dame, Bill Slocum, Bruce Grey, Marshall Thompson, Charles Bond, David Wheeler and Manuel Velazquez.

Marshall Headle neglected to take the initiation seriously, he failed to come dressed as a girl. Marshall suffered the consequences by eating "Ex-Lax."

The freshmen boys were not to be outdone however, they chased the boys responsible for the initiation and managed to kiss them with their smeary lipstick.

Comments flew back and forth such as "you're slip is showing," which was followed by a long low whistle. One freshman greeted another with "darling you look charming!"

The freshmen boys have a lot of spunk and good sportsmanship. These boys deserve a rousing cheer: Harold Sweet, Frank Smith, Reeford Shea, Dale Sappingfield, Buddy Sale, Marvin Roth, Raymond Reyes, Robert Patterson, Ernie Parsler, Don Mendoza and Marcus Marquez.

Chuck Stone and Dick Henson lamented that some of the boys weren't "real girls," because they're awfully cute.

The teachers were confused when Richard Krings, Russell Kolbe, Pierce Kibbey, Gordon Inman, Jay Hughes and Ronald French appeared in class.

Classroom Chatter

Wandering into Period II Civics class one day, we found a wild election in progress between two political parties, the Whigs and the Federalists. Wandering over to Mr. Weeks, we asked the nature of this affair. We discovered that it was conducted for the purpose of showing the Civics class how national campaigns are organized and run. The candidates for the class officers were:

Whigs—President, Tom Griffith; vice president, Bob Hillery; secretary, Jack Pendery, and managers, James Searls and Bob Jones.

Federalists—President, Tom Archer; vice president, Chuck St. George; secretary, Frank Kenny, and managers, Don Williams and Jay Holderman.

The lucky boys who won were: President, Tom Griffith; vice president, St. George; secretary, Frank Keeney.

The new officers conduct their meeting each Tuesday and Friday.

The speech arts class was next on the list. Entering the auditorium, we noticed the diligence with which several students were writing their speeches.

We peered over their shoulders and read some of the interesting Disappearance of the Family Circle, by Lolo Vallier; "What a College Education Can Mean to

Band Members To Get Letters

The Student Council met October 22, in room one during activity period.

A motion was made and passed unanimously to grant a six-inch letter with a lyre interwoven to members of the band and the drum major and majorettes who meet specified conditions.

Next came the subject of payment of bills for cheer leader's costumes. The council approved of payment.

Ed Wills brought up the subject of noon dance and it was arranged for next Wednesday and a publicity campaign for the dance was scheduled.

FARM NEWS SHORTS

Farm real estate prices climbed another four per cent during the period March-July, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports from Washington. This further increase means a total rise of 13 per cent since July, 1945, and 77 per cent above the average for 1935-39.

"You," by Ralph Woodward; "Hated," by Jack Reis, and "The Technique of Effective Speaking," by Cherie Mashburn.

Next week we shall peek into the Drama and Shop classes and let you in on what they're doing.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

On Playing the Fiddle Badly

A favorite recreation in our town is getting together in one or another's home and making music. There's somebody at the piano; a guitar; a fiddle player; and Molly Birtles even has a harp!

What comes out isn't the best music in the whole world. In fact, a lot of it is downright bad. But nobody even thinks to question or to criticize.

Because the spirit of harmony is there—harmony between folks who like each other's company, who enjoy the simple, homey atmosphere —with nothing more exciting than old songs, and a glass of moderate beer or cider.

From where I sit, it's a heap more important to be a poor fiddle player, than not to play at all. More important to be a part of the American scene—with its community music, home entertainment, friendly glass of beer—than to hold out for professional perfection. (Besides, I like to play the fiddle—even badly!)

Annual Dinner of Girls' League Is Delightful Affair

Palm Springs High School girls met for the annual Girls' League Dinner, held at the school from 6:30 to 9:30, on the night of Thursday, October 17. The food was furnished by the entire league. With the assistance of the Girls' League advisor, Mrs. Moya Henderson, the seniors prepared the meal, and the juniors served; the freshmen washed dishes for the party of approximately 150 girls. Joining the group were the women of the faculty, and several wives of faculty members, who were guests.

After dinner, short talks were given by Mrs. Henderson and President Sally Robinson. Everyone then adjourned to the auditorium, where they gathered for skits given by each class group.

The seniors gave a skit called "The Best Served Customer," performed by Mercedes Rios, and Hortensia Ortega. Mildred Potter presented the poem, "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

These juniors, Bonine Sue Taylor, Dawn Okerlund, and Marilyn Ellsworth, imitated the Mills Brothers in the song, "Don't Be a Baby, Baby." Marilyn and Bonnie sang Al Jolson's version of "Swanee."

Sophomores Sandra Veano, Jackie Kingsbury and Mabel Potter took part in "Two Boys Meet Girl."

"The Human Comedy," was played by freshmen Sonya Hulme, Donna Surman, Shirley Smedley, Bergit Zwiller, and Margaret Ranihan.

The auditorium was filled with laughter as these parts were enacted. It is planned to have these skits at an assembly to come, so the entire student body may enjoy them.

Western Duds Feature Campus

Western Week has come around again and the turnout of students and faculty the first day was very colorful. The few who forgot their cowboy duds resolved to wear them Tuesday, and everyone will be clad cowboy style throughout the week. A bright purple plaid shirt (worn by Dr. Oertel) caused many eyes to blink and Mr. Greeley in his red number startled other crowds. Mr. Summers looked a typical cowboy in his levis, likewise Mr. Remy and Mr. Martin. Mr. Sussman looked very snappy in frontier pants with a tie to match his famous visor. Upon close examination of Mr. Weeks you find that he dressed a little western too—a western belt. Mrs. Kiley, looking very demure in jeans, and with the good percentage of western turnouts among the faculty, one would have enough to stage a western drama. How about it, Mr. Sussman? Bob Jones and Jackie Walker turned out in matching candy stripe shirts, Jeannette in frontier pants, and Louie dressed like something from the Cisco Kid.

FOR A COLLEGE

Many communities have discovered the advantages of having a college located within their boundaries. These advantages are numerous. For one thing, a college can cause a great advance in business. It can be responsible for a considerable growth in population. Palm Springs has an ideal college already built and awaiting occupancy. It is equipped with beautifully landscaped grounds, well situated in the community and with plenty of additional space for enlargement. It also boasts a large administration building, well constructed and easily adapted to college purposes. There are 39 well constructed stucco buildings all connected by enclosed walks and all steam heated from a central heating plant. These buildings are all 150 feet long and 25 feet wide and would make ideal lecture halls.

There is sufficient space to house innumerable students, both in dormitories and private rooms. Twelve cottages are also located on the grounds and would serve as housing for the faculty. A large kitchen, dining rooms, and a laundry are also included among the buildings.

Important items such as laboratories, libraries, indoor and outdoor gyms are also awaiting use. For recreation facilities, a swimming pool, tennis courts and club rooms are also available. All that is lacking in this ideal arrangement is a faculty, seats and financial aid. All of these obstacles could be met with a little effort and perseverance on the part of an enterprising community.

A college located in such a spot as Palm Springs would soon become famous the world over, being located in such ideal surroundings, situated in the desert within easy reach of snow sports and desert life in the winter time. Many other colleges in surrounding communities publicize the fact that they are situated close to Palm Springs. If such is the case why doesn't Palm Springs make use of these natural resources? This suggestion is a challenge to this community, as this is a worthwhile enterprise that would not need to be sponsored by the taxpayers. However what could be a more worthy enterprise of a greater asset to a growing city interested in development and prosperity? This city is now a well known health and pleasure center, why not also an educational and cultural center? Now is the time for all of us to act in the effort to convert Torrey General Hospital to this worthy enterprise.—Ralph Woodward.

Gym Shorts

The plans for the G. A. A. Carnival November 1st have been elaborated on and each class and club has chosen their booths for that night. The G. A. A. is having the penny pitch as in recent years. There will be a dance following the carnival and Cherie Mashburn, who is the head of decorating the auditorium, is doing a grand job.

Mislead gym shorts are becoming a major item around the gym, they are not only in the lost and found but all over the gym floor. Please remember to put your gym clothes back into the locker after their use each day.

We had an indoor meeting of the G. A. A. Wednesday activity period because of the anticipated rain storm. We decided on the schedule for each of the teams and the schedule is as follows:

Fashions and Fads

Attractive and adorable Mable Potter displayed her idea of school wearables this week. Her styles of clothes are of the sport type and she looks strictly reet in sweaters and skirts. She is a girl with a flexible personality for clothes, and was seen this week around school wearing a very neat looking aqua skirt, a fuschia cardigan long-sleeved sweater. Her shoes, which are very popular with all of the girls, are commonly called hey-deys. She also expressed her opinion that cotton dresses and tailored dresses should be worn for the right occasions at school and that shoes should be comfortable and wearable, which everyone agrees on. Her ideas on makeup follow in line with other girls' opinions. She said that all girls should heed these rules: don't plaster on lipstick and powder so thick that your faces can't be seen but use the idea of moderation.

Boys' State Talk Given Assembly By Don Williams

The second in a series of talks on Boy's State was given by Don Williams, a senior, and a rally was conducted by Mr. Gustave Patzner and the band at the regular assembly Thursday, October 18, in the auditorium.

Don Williams gave a synopsis of the activities at Boy's State from June 22-29. Williams explained that upon arriving at the Grant Union High School near Sacramento each boy was registered, given a medical examination, and assigned to quarters. Each boy was made either a Federal or a Whig; which were the two political parties of the convention.

During the week the boys were given instruction in government, both in theory and practice. There were city, county, and state offices to which boys were elected. In the final state elections three Whigs and three Fed-

In the concluding part of the assembly, Mr. Patzner conducted the high school band in a series of school songs in the band's initial performance before the student body. Mr. Patzner introduced a "Hello Song" to the students which will be sung to the visiting teams.

Proposition 3 will relieve the teacher famine in California by guaranteeing public school teachers a minimum salary of $2400 a year. Local taxes will not be increased by this measure. State funds are available for this purpose.

Two hundred California organizations, including the following, urge you to vote "YES" on 3—Republican and Democratic Parties, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, AFL, CIO, Native Daughters and Native Sons, and P-TA.

And remember—when you vote "Yes" on 3, be sure to vote "No" on 13, which would further reduce present inadequate school appropriations.

From Head to Toe

By BARBARA K. SCHILLY

Last week we were discussing longer skirts . . . commenting on how they overcame that "gangly" look and what an improvement we thought they were. We still think so . . . but having just let out the last length of our last dress . . . we thought it might be a better idea to cease "hemming" around the subject and come down to practicality . . . that is, the mechanics of the matter.

We started our project of longer skirts by letting down hemlines . . . but this was not always the answer. Consequently we thought we would present a few problems we came across and the best solutions we could find for them.

1. WE OFTEN discovered that our clothes had faded somewhat (one disadvantage of our much publicized brilliant sunshine) and that we had a two tone effect down at the bottom of our outfits. In defiance of this . . . we have added several black and navy dresses to our collection . . . as dying seemed the best solution and we had quite good success with it. It was a decision of either wear short dresses or have them another color . . . the choice was obvious. 2. However, there is always the case of the skirt without the hem to let out . . . but even that can often be solved. In the case where a dress just is too short . . . why not cut off the skirt and use the top as a blouse. Half a dress is better than one in this case.

3. ANOTHER WAY to solve this lengthy matter . . . calls for a bit of skill and luck . . . but it can be done. In the case of a suit . . . try cutting the sleeves of the coat short (if style allows) or take the sleeves completely out and convert the coat to a smart jerkin style. With the sleeve material on hand . . . you or your tailor can probably make a yoke for the skirt . . . thereby elongating it considerably.

4. When we did have a hem to let out, we learned one small trick. This was to put the stitching in the place where the hem used to fold . . . it avoids that "let down" look.

5. WITH SKIRTS becoming longer . . . there is also the problem of coats . . . which will probably look outgrown when you put them on over your new styled skirt. The problem is really minor, though . . . for all one need do is cut off the coat and achieve a box, three-quarter or tunic style which are so in vogue now.

6. If nothing else works . . . we have one more suggestion up our sleeve only nothing so drastic this time as to cut it off. We have had considerable success with crepe and woolen clothes by having them stretched by a competent cleaner . . . and have added inches to our length.

Vandal Saws Tires Of Cement Mixer

A. H. Gorwin, operator of a miniature golf course at 1180 South Palm Canyon drive, reported a new case of vandalism to police Monday.

He said that someone, apparently a youth from the size of footprints left behind, had stolen a saw from Bob Bennett's place and sawed through two tires on a cement mixer on his property.

If you wish to train up a child in the way he should go, just skirmish ahead on that line yourself. —Josh Billings.

Oliver Scoffs at New "Clue" Found To Pegleg Fortune

He wouldn't say yes and he wouldn't say no.

Harry Oliver, mayor of 1,000 Palms, would not commit himself on the recent discovery of an old cap and ball pistol in the Borego desert region. But he did scoff at the idea that perhaps the discovery by a Beaumont woman was another clue to the famous lost Pegleg Smith mine.

The gun was found the other day. It was rusty and of 1849 Colt vintage.

EXCITEMENT was aroused because the rusty pistol bore an inscription "Smith" alongside the barrel.

"Smith!" snorted Oliver. "Why, there were hundreds of Smiths in the southland in the early days. Those guys had no imagination and all they could think of when they wanted to change their names to get away from a shady past was 'Smith.'"

Some years ago, as stated in The Sun, Oliver had 250 peg legs turned out, weathered them and scattered them on the desert to cause great excitement among scores of people who rushed into the public prints with "clues" to the long lost Pegleg Smith mine.

DENIAL WAS PROMPT from Oliver that he had anything to do with the ancient pistol. "Why, any old Smith might have lost that one."

Oliver brought in one of the hoax peglegs to The Sun office last week-end.

"Work of art," he commented.

Carlton Appleby, son of the late Frank Appleby, former prominent Ontario publisher, writing in Ed Ainsworth's Desert Barnacle, interviewed Oliver last week and intimated that the mayor of 1,000 Palms may have long ago located the Pegleg Smith mine.

Asked about that, Oliver just roared, his head back and his white goatee pointing straight ahead.

FOR VETERANS' WELFARE

VOTE "YES" ON PROPOSITION 2!

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans urge you to vote "YES" on Proposition 2 on the November ballot.

This measure will legalize greyhound racing in California — under strict State supervision — and turn over 4 per cent of all track wagers to a Veterans' Fund administered by the State Department of Veterans' Affairs.

It will perform a distinct service for California veterans. It will guarantee ADEQUATE FINANCING of State-sponsored welfare and rehabilitation activities, including support of the Veterans' Home at Yountville. It will relieve the taxpayer of the burden of paying for these services; greyhound racing will pay the bill instead.

California veterans ask you to support them in this campaign.

Restrictions on Building to Aid Veterans is Urged

Local veterans organizations were planning to take steps to carry out the suggestion of Lawrence C. Stevens, state director of veterans affairs, who urged that local ordinances restricting the issuance of building permits to holders of Veterans' HH priorities or construction permits issued by the Civilian Production Administration.

Several communities already have taken such action. The city of Fresno has adopted an ordinance declared to be "an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of public peace, health and safety," providing that for a period of 90 days from and after the date of the passage of that ordinance no permit shall be issued for the erection or construction of any commercial or industrial building or structure without satisfactory evidence that such person has procured a priority for such erection from the CPA or from the FHA for dwelling purposes only. Stevens declared that by refusing to authorize construction under the veterans emergency housing program, local communities can be of tremendous assistance in making critical materials and labor available for construction of the thousands of additional veterans' homes urgently needed in California.

SPEAK UP KIDS!

Palm Springs Teen-agers,—with a Youth Center almost certain—you are now sure to have and enjoy the one thing many of you have wanted most—a place to meet—a place to enjoy cokes and eats—a place for recreation and sports—a meeting place for fellows and girls, together or separate, where pals and friends may enjoy leisure hours after school and at times— evening parties, dances and broadcasts—that's swell—but The Desert Sun thinks that you teen-agers have many ideas about Palm Springs you'd like to express—about the Youth Center, The Village, School, You rselves—in short—How to make Palm Springs a better place for youth.

PALM SPRINGS TEEN-AGERS: THIS CONTEST IS JUST FOR YOU. WIN $100.00 IN PRIZES!

Young People—This contest is just for you.

The Desert Sun believes that young people themselves know as much as, if not more than, any one else about young people's problems. The whole object of this campaign is to make Palm Springs a better place for you—the boys and girls and young men and young women who are soon to take over our jobs, to run our city, our businesses, our stores.

So this contest is to give you an opportunity to tell us the answer to this question: "How Can We Make Palm Springs a Better Place for Youth?" You can write a letter on any subject or suggestion which you believe you will help accomplish this purpose.

Don't hesitate to criticize as well as recommend. We want you to tell us what's wrong with our Village from your viewpoint, as well as what you think should be done about it. Don't worry about fancy writing or spelling. What we want is your ideas. You can write them in a letter of any length, from 10 to 300 words.

Letters entered in the contest can be on any subject or subjects, provided they come under the general heading of "How to Make Palm Springs a Better Place for Youth." Here are a few suggestions of subjects you might write on.

1. What we need in the way of parks, playgrounds, swimming, skating, indoor sports, dancing and other recreational facilities for young people, keeping in mind that you are now almost certain to have a "Youth Center"—although building may be held up by the C.P.A.—(Civilian Production Administration).
2. How can we make our streets, schools, homes and other places safer and better for young people?
3. What kind of organizations should we have for young people which we don't already have? How can the organizations we do have do a better job?
4. What's right and what's wrong with our Village government from the standpoint of young people? Our police department? Our schools?
5. Remember we are going to have a "Youth Center"—so perhaps you can write some very good suggestions on what the young folks would like to see incorporated into the new "Youth Center"—its policies, hours, facilities, etc.

The best letters written, in addition to winning prizes for their writers, will be published in The Desert Sun and broadcast over RadiOasis KCMJ. All the material gathered through the contest will be studied and used for the welfare of the young people of Palm Springs.

HERE ARE THE PRIZES

For the best letters received The Desert Sun will pay the following cash prizes:

FIRST PRIZE—

FIFTY DOLLARS ($50)

SECOND PRIZE—

TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS ($25)

3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th PRIZES—

FIVE DOLLARS EACH

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Any young person between the ages of 12 and 19 inclusive, is eligible to enter.
2. Your letters can be written, printed or typed, in pen or pencil on any kind of paper, but must not exceed 300 words in length. Short letters of from ten words up have just as much chance of winning as long ones.
3. All letters must be on the subject of "How to Make the Palm Springs Area a Better Place for Youth," but you can include as many different ideas, suggestions or criticisms as you wish.
4. Letters will be judged on the basis of sincerity and clear thinking. Neatness, handwriting or "fancy writing" will not count.
5. All letters must be mailed to "CONTEST EDITOR, THE DESERT SUN, PALM SPRINGS, CALIF.," and be post-marked on or before Tuesday, November 5th.
6. All letters become the property of The Desert Sun. None will be returned or acknowledged. Decisions of the judges are final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

MORE ABOUT . . . Gazoozit

shorter than usual this week.

ON THE CAMPUS we find Bobby Jones and Dawn, who seem to be getting along fine. Keep both eyes open for developments.

According to Nancy, she and Jim are still going steady. This off and on romance will probably go on for time immemorial.

How rumors do spread! Some of the students have been under false impression that Jackie Walker and Jarvis Earl are going steady. To put you back on the right track (Union Pacific or otherwise), Jarvis and Jackie have only been out together once and there was certainly nothing cooked up in that short time.

THURSDAY NIGHT the girls' league dinner was a great success. Everybody ought to thank Sally and Vivian and all their assistants for their fine work in getting all the food ready.

What I want to know is who put all those empty pie plates under the crepe paper. Anything for a laugh, Vivian Miller, and mean innocent bystanders.

All of the four skits provided plenty of laughs. The freshman with the automobile and numerous wheels, the sophomores' girl meet boy act, the junior with their Mills Brothers singing act and the seniors with a pantomime and a poem. Ah what supreme examples of top talent.

DICK MOSELY got a little angry the other day at Jill for getting stories all mixed up. He was able to control his temper quite well, however, as he only bit nails and also tacks for some forty-five minutes followed by two hours of continuous frothing at the mouth. Dick has always possessed a degree of self control worthy of note.

Friday after school we played a great game with Beaumont. Beaumont won but just barely cause our boys were really fighting like mad. Our new football band put everybody in the spirit of the thing. The drum majorettes were Barbara Beeton and yours truly (no remarks, please), while Henson, Dawn and Bonnie Sue led the songs as well as yells and cheers.

Who should we find on the side lines watching the game but dear old Cecil with hubby. Remember back in the good old days when people used to read Gazoozit and like it, Cecil wrote it then and that's why. Now she is the mother of proud twins, I mean, the proud mother of twins or maybe it works both ways.

FRIDAY NIGHT lots of the gang went to Coachella to see the football game there with Coachella playing Hemet. Hemet lost so that means Coachella won. There we found sitting in the aisles with people using them for steps, Delano and Jackie Walker, Dawn and Bobby Jones, Bonnie Lou and Don McKinney, Galzeronnie, and others. The two boys from L. A. who aren't in high school but who seem to be getting acquainted pretty fast are Rudy Hagen and Gene Johnson. Jo Wilkes was with Gene but they seemed to be lost from each other pretty often. Virginia may have been with Jack but that was Fungus you saw her in the hall with. It seems the two had a little argument and simply had to patch things up. This same dear girl was getting along rather well with Gene.

Bonnie Lou's escort was Don Whitehead but as Bonnie wanted to stay at the party a little longer she went home with Delano instead. How strange that they still walked out of the door at exactly the same time. Things like that puzzle me so.

I'M TOLD that Fern and Landry were having a little argument over Slocum but maybe that's a secret so don't tell anyone. The boys had a swell time playing cops and robbers while Weingartner crouched on the floor of the car.

Lois Earl was getting along fine with Brady but she spent about as much time laughing at her brother as she did with him. She gave Jarvis the name of "Lover." The reason why is obvious.

Before the party was over, it seemed Gene couldn't find any place else to sit but a wash tub so it was there that he assumed a most comfortable position for relaxation. Someone turned on the hot water and Gene blamed everything on poor Rudy. It wasn't Rudy who turned on the hot water though.

Thanks to Brady, we know the age of chivalry is not dead. Saturday night his parting words were, and I quote, "Good night, fair maidens, I'm off to bed," with a low bow and a silly grin.

When the party did end we were all surprised and shocked to find Dora Taylor with the same boy she started out with. Gillar must have some new-found, once-hidden, charm or something.

17 Important Propositions, Vital to All Californians, to Appear on Ballot Along With Candidates on November 5

Villagers going to the polls on Nov. 5—and 2,110 of them are eligible to do so—will find 17 propositions and proposed laws on the ballot as well as names of candidates for county, state and national offices.

All of the measures on the ballot are important ones and vital to all Californians.

In spite of this, a light vote is being predicted.

THREE of the propositions affect the state's veterans, six propose changes in school laws, and the remainder range from such controversial subjects as the fair employment practices act and alien land law to creation of a court for tax appeals.

Following is a brief resume of the 17 propositions:

1. Veterans Bond Act of 1946. This act provides for a bond issue of one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) to be used by the Veteran's Welfare Board in assisting California war veterans to acquire farms and homes.

2. Greyhound Racing. This amendment permits greyhound racing and pari-mutuel wagering in counties having a population of 17,000 or more. It establishes a board to license racing and wagering and authorizes 74 racing days per year in Los Angeles county and in the San Francisco metropolitan area, and 25 days per year in all other eligible counties.

Four per cent of all sums wagered would be paid to a fund for pursuing claims of war veterans against the federal and state governments and for veterans rehabilitation. Eight per cent of all sums wagered would be retained by the pari-mutuel pool operator.

3. Public Schools. This establishes a minimum salary of $2400 per year for all teachers, and increases state support for public schools to $120 per year for each pupil in average daily attendance, $90 of which shall be given to local school districts. It also authorizes local school officials to determine the amount of money to be raised by school district taxes and prohibits transfer of any school or college to any authority not under the public school system.

4. Business Loans to Veterans. This permits loans to veterans for the purpose of enabling them to buy a business, land, buildings, supplies, equipment, machinery, or tools, which are to be used by the veteran in pursuing a gainful occupation. In addition, it provides that such aid is exempt from prohibition against giving or lending the credit of the state in aid of any person.

5. Creation of a Court for Tax Appeals.

This creates a court of tax appeals consisting of three judges selected in the same manner as justices of State Supreme court and gives court jurisdiction over appeals from superior courts in all cases involving the legality, imposition or collection of taxes and assessments. The decisions of this court are to be subject to review by the Supreme court.

6. Annual Sessions of the Legislature.

This provides that the legislature shall meet annually and limit sessions during the even-numbered years to consideration of budget bills and certain special matters. Also, it provides that the state budget shall be for one year rather than for a two year period.

7. County Boards of Education. This provides that members of a county board of education may be elected rather than appointed, and that the qualifications and terms of office may be established by county charter rather than by general law.

8. County Superintendents of Schools. This requires that the qualifications and salaries of county superintendents of schools shall be fixed by the legislature rather than by local authorities and permits the legislature to prescribe different qualifications and salaries for each county.

9. State Superintendents of Public Instruction.

This creates the offices of one deputy superintendent of public instruction and three associate superintendents of public instruction, to be appointed by the state board of education, upon nomination by the superintendent of public instruction for four terms without regard to civil service regulations. It also permits the appointment of additional associate superintendents of public instruction, subject to state civil service laws.

10. Salary of the Governor.

This authorizes the legislature to fix the governor's salary at not less than $10,000 per year and prohibits the increase or decrease after the regular session of the legislature in 1947 of the salaries of the governor, lieutenant-governor, controller, secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction, or treasurer, during their terms of office.

11. Fair Employment Practices Act.

This sets a state policy which would maintain that all persons have the right of equal opportunity to secure employment and makes it unlawful to refuse to hire, to discharge or to discriminate in conditions of employment against any person because of race, religion, color, national origin or ancestry. It also establishes a commission to prevent such unlawful practices by education and conciliation or order. The commission's orders may be subject to judicial review.

12. Amendment of Laws Adopted by Initiative.

This authorizes the legislature to propose repeals or amendments to laws enacted by initiative and provides that such proposed repeals or amendments must be submitted to the vote of the people for adoption or rejection.

13. Allocation of Public School Funds.

This simplifies the procedure for allocation of state funds for support of the public school system and eliminates the necessity of making allocations for support of the public schools from the state general fund. Instead it provides that sums be appropriated to the state school fund.

14. Disability of the Governor to Act.

This provides that the secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and controller, in the order named, shall assume powers and duties of the governor in the event of the disability of the governor, lieutenant-governor, president pro tempore of the senate or the speaker of the assembly to act.

15. Validation of Legislative Amendments to Alien Land Law. Establishes validity of 1923 and 1943 legislative amendments to the alien land law of 1920.

16. Repeal of the Educational Poll Tax.

This repeals that portion of the state constitution which now provides that the legislature shall levy a five dollar or more yearly educational poll tax on each male inhabitant, with certain exceptions, between the ages of 21 and 50. The poll tax now goes to the state school fund.

17. Public Utilities Commission. This changes the name of the railroad commission to the Public Utilities Commission.

Browsing Around B-Bar-H

Breaking all records and defying even the hardest western tradition, guests at B-Bar-H Ranch ventured on six breakfast rides during the past week. Taking this as an indication of what to expect during the season, the management is planning barbecue equipment on the desert so that famished riders will get their breakfasts even quicker.

Head wrangler Ray Mills, who flips the eggs and broils the bacon, reports he is thinking of taking over the B-Bar-H cuisine so that he can prepare all the meals, while the kitchen crew have a chance to experience the thrill of the breakfast rides.

SATURDAY EVENING the first western dance of the season was held at the ranch, and Merrill's orchestra was on hand to present some of the numbers which were a sensation during their summer engagement at Lake Tahoe. The newer rhythms included their own version of a samba which proved to be a breath-taking pace even for the most ardent dance devotee. The spotlight during the samba rhythms was on Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cohn of Highland Park, Illinois.

The "after lunch" hour at B-Bar-H finds Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schnitzer and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lipfritz, all of Los Angeles, enjoying a game of cards at the pool while Mr. and Mrs. Z. E. Flaxer of that city are active on the tennis courts. Other Los Angeles guests at B-Bar-H during the past week included Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lipper, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Panama, and Messrs. Walter Gillis, Jack Rose, Dick Meadows and Rollo Butler, Mrs. R. C. Rider, Mrs. Robert Ferguson, and Miss Anne Anthony, all of Buffalo, New York, have returned to their homes after enjoying several days' rest at the ranch.

This week Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kasler, owners of B-Bar-H, have returned to their home at the ranch after an interesting vacation trip to Carmel and Las Vegas.

Boyd Addresses Riverside Club

Philip L. Boyd, former mayor of Palm Springs, now assemblyman from Riverside county at Sacramento, addressed the Riverside 20-30 club Tuesday night, outlining the 17 proposals on the Nov. 5 ballot.

He grouped the proposals under subject matter—school, veterans and so on.

He urged his listeners to read the arguments on both sides on each proposal in order to vote intelligently.

Radio Show Almost Stymied By Picket Line

What Goes On
Rancho Mirage

Rancho Mirage and Palm Village areas now have fire protection! So announced Asst. State Ranger Charles Still, fire control officer for this area with offices in Banning. In the event of a fire call the Chevron station in Cathedral and the county truck station there will be dispatched. After that call Coachella 82000 and a larger truck there will come out. Charlie Still will then show up as soon as possible with the Banning truck to help mop up the last few sparks left. This does not relate to fires from hangovers.

The other night the Rancho Mirage Legion post held its first meeting of the season. The meeting was presided over by District Commander George Boldin and Senior Vice Commander of the post, Herb True. Plans are being made to swing the post into a wide round of activities including the formation of an auxiliary for the Legion ladies around here. Al Sprague of the Blue Haven Courts in Cathedral City is pushing the boys around and getting their signatures on new membership cards. Be careful if you drop into our Legion branch office in Cathedral City: Chuck Woods, Chuckburger Cafe, the only second class joint in Cathedral City, whose delicious food is not recommended by Duncan Hines but is highly endorsed by J. Guadalupe Lopez, Frank Reyes, Juan Ybarra and Jose Ruiz. Those boys ought to know. First thing you know I'll be trying it myself.

PALM SPRINGS LEGION post is to be congratulated for that swell feed and show at Marcus Caro's Green Shack put on Tuesday night. Jerry Sanborn went out of his way to dig up all of $175 worth of really Hollywood entertainment. The less said the better but now we know why George Boldin wears chin whiskers. We were glad to see practically all of Riverside county's legion members there as maybe they will now be able to work up some more ideas for much and more partying. How in the heck did Bob Ellworth expect me to be able to ride in the parade Wednesday afternoon carrying the big heavy flag but I done it, anyway.

You may be able to build and install airbases for the U. S. Army in such places like Hungary, N. Ireland, Cairo, Egypt, England and France like Henry Ogden, vice president of Lockheed, first man to fly around the world, but unless you come to Rancho Mirage you won't have the experience of getting up and hiking to the hills to see our marvelous sunrises. Henry is visiting Bob and Georgia Zimmer and had this experience and says that nowhere else has he seen such sunrises. He instituted the first airline from Los Angeles to Palm Springs around 1930 flying a plane called the Ogden Offspring which he built himself.

Fibber McGee and
Molly Go On Air
From Torney Set

Fibber McGee and Molly played to an overflowing audience despite the fact the famous radio show had to be moved from the Plaza theater almost at the last minute before curtain call, when the projectionist union declared that the Strebe theaters were unfair to organized labor.

The show went on at the regular time 8 p.m. Tuesday evening from the Red Cross theater located on the Torney General hospital grounds.

Frantically, officials of the Men's Wear association who had planned the show called U. S. Engineers both in San Francisco and then Washington, D.C. before permission to stage the show at Torney could be obtained.

Senator Honored
At Dinner Party
At Desert Inn

U. S. Senator William Knowland and Mrs. Knowland were guests of honor at a cocktail party and dinner at the Desert Inn Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coffman entertained at their bungalow and at the Inn afterwards.

Among those present to meet the senator were Congressman and Mrs. John Phillips, Assemblyman and Mrs. Philip Boyd, Raymond Haight, state Republican leader, Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehorn, the latter editor of the Republican Spokesman, Mrs. Melba Bennett, chairman of the local Republican committee, and others interested in the G.O.P. campaign.

Following the gathering at the Coffman bungalow, the party adjourned to the Inn for dinner.

down after the radio broadcast. Visiting at Rancho Mirage: Ron Button's former legal partner and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mosher; Gene and Betty Dorsey were with Dave Culver who is now at the state convention of the Apartment House Owners association. Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Toler of Compton and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gross of South Gate with the Ralph Pierson, who is city attorney in Compton.

While Bill Reichel is winding up Bill Knowland's campaign in the forty northern counties, wife Helen ducked out to Rancho Mirage to entertain several of her friends from the bay area and then will be here for the rest of the season. Mrs. Rheta Morris, Mrs. William I. MacDonald, Mrs. Richard A. MacDonald and Mrs. Ernest Voight all from Piedmont have been ably shown the spots to be seen around here by Helen. Consequently her friends are duly desert happy now and we hope to have them settle around here soon. (Realtors take note).

Horsemen's Group
Plans Membership
Meeting and Ride

Plans for a general membership meeting of the Palm Springs Horsemen's association which may take the form of a breakfast ride, were started this week by a committee of three appointed at a meeting of the board of directors last week.

Members of the committee are Joseph Butler, Cecil Isenagie and Jack Wentworth. The get-together will be the first general gathering of the members of the newly-formed association which recently sponsored the four-day ride through the San Jacinto mountains, first annual Palms-to-Pines ride.

The association directors received from Raymond Cree, president of the group since its inception, a letter of resignation but it was tabled and Mr. Cree asked to reconsider his action. The directors warmly praised his leadership and devotion of time to plans for the successful mountain ride, voicing the hope he can find time to continue as president.

New Coolerator
Now Available

No more waiting for new Coolerator ice refrigerators, is the word being passed around by E. L. Lilley, manager of the Union ice company plant here. Carloads of the much-awaited refrigerator are coming into this area weekly, and are now available for immediate delivery.

According to Lilley, the new ice-conditioned Coolerator is the finest refrigerator the company has ever offered. With 5½ cubic feet of storage space, there is plenty of room for all food, jars, and bottles; and Coolerator's moist air keeps left-overs and salads fresh tasting and prevents transfer of flavor from one food to another.

The Union ice company manager said, "all those who see the new Coolerator will be surprised at its low cost, because it is such an efficient and attractive refrigerator that will enhance the beauty of every kitchen!"

The Union iceman in each neighborhood has complete information on the new, ice Coolerator and how its exclusive air-conditioning preserves food without drying out.

the most distinguished home in Palm Springs
—one of the most-talked-of houses in America.

Richard J. Neutra designed this modern house and designed it to meet completely every functional need of "indoor-outdoor" living. One of the most famous architects in the world, this is clearly acknowledged to be one of his masterpieces. It has been repeatedly written up and featured in magazines and books. (See article, superbly illustrated, by Augusta Owen Patterson, "Desert at the Doorstep," Town & Country, November, 1945, pp. 120-124.)

It's a unique and remarkable house, flexible and expandable: four beautiful facades; two bedrooms; two baths; studio-bar. Its spacious indoor and outdoor living rooms are appropriately screened to enjoy outdoor dining—with variant and luscious vistas—at any season of the year. Living room can easily sleep 4 occasional guests. Two car garage.

It's located at No. 2 RICHARD PLACE, off INDIAN AVENUE, 500 feet south of RACQUET CLUB ROAD on lot 200 x 120 (Indian Avenue frontage) and is elegantly landscaped with both exotic and native trees and shrubs. Included is a prize-winning cactus garden and a citrus garden yielding the finest table fruit to be found in the Palm Springs area. Irrigation water.

Offered with basic furnishings, together with complete plans and specifications for adding a self-contained, guest-apartment wing. At $40,000, GRACIANA is not only a good immediate buy but a sound investment that becomes sounder as each year sees the resort expansion of Palm Springs grow greater.

School Districts
Of County Receive
Million from State

Elementary school districts in Riverside county will receive $1,402,903 from the state treasury for the current, 1946-47 school year, based on average daily attendance of 16,591 pupils, California Taxpayers' association said today, making public its study of three years of state support of elementary school districts in California. State apportionment to the elementary school districts in the county for 1945-46 was $1,266,226 based on average daily attendance of 14,946 pupils. For 1944-45, elementary school support was $930,268 based on 14,061 attendance.

The 1945-46 school year was the first for which elementary school districts received the $80 per pupil state support voted by the people in November, 1944, the Taxpayers' association said. For 1944-45 the state apportionment fund was $66 per pupil.

Over the state as a whole, the elementary school districts will receive $68,081,990 from the state treasury this year, based on 822,907 pupils in elementary average daily attendance. Last year the total state apportionment to the elementary school districts of the state was $65,219,246, based on 787,347 pupils in attendance. For 1944-45, state support was $50,676,686, based on 750,825 attendance.

"The primary basis of state support of public schools is number of pupils in attendance," the association said, pointing out that regardless of the fate of Proposition No. 3 at the polls, state apportionments will go up automatically as attendance of children increases.

Tuesday night's smoker which was sponsored by the Owen Coffman post of the American Legion, was considered one of the best ever staged by that organization.

The party took place at the Green Shack, located between Beaumont and Banning, and was attended by Legionnaires from Riverside, Beaumont, Thermal, Banning, Rancho Mirage and many members of the Coffman post.

A sumptuous dinner was prepared by Marcos Caro, local Legion member and owner-operator of the Green Shack.

Village Landlords
Facing Proceedings
On Rental Charges

Several actions are being prepared for filing in the federal courts of Los Angeles against landlords in Palm Springs.

This was the announcement made yesterday by George J. McDonald, San Bernardino, and area director of rent control for Riverside county.

He was in the Village yesterday with Arthur E. Jacobsen, field worker who is in Palm Springs every Thursday to listen to complaints and answer questions of both tenants and landlords.

One case Jacobsen told about was that of a landlord who, without permission of the OPA, raised the rent on his apartment from $35 per month to $140.

Another landlord rather than face prosecution made a deal with his tenants to refund the overcharge with free rent until the overcharge was consumed.

Another case cited was one in which a landlord converted a 6-room dwelling for which he was permitted to charge $50 per month, into a three-unit apartment renting at from $35 to $50 each per month.

Jacobsen will return to the Village every Thursday for the remainder of the season.

Youth Held on Charge
Of Stealing Overcoat

An overcoat in Palm Springs in October?

Frank Quinlan of San Francisco, brought one down here with him and left it lying over the back of a chair at a local hotel. When he returned it was gone. He reported the theft to police.

A short time later, William A. Pancoast Jr. was arrested on South Palm Canyon drive with the coat in his possession.

Pancoast is in jail awaiting hearing before Judge E. E. Theriau on a petty theft charge—for taking an overcoat with the sun beating down at around 96 degrees.

Business Women In Session Here

With Mrs. Jimmy Hume presiding, members of the Palm Springs Business Women's club met yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the Desert Inn Coffee shop in a Western breakfast.

Table decorations were in the Western theme, arranged by Mrs. Thelma Spalding. Miniature riders and desert flowers featured the tables.

A prize was awarded Margaret Wilson for appearing in the most authentic and outstanding Western costume. Another prize went to Mrs. Spalding for her artistry in decorating the tables.

All women interested in joining the club are urged to be at the Fiesta House on the Desert Inn grounds Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock when an organization meeting will be held.

There's a big bully in town police are looking for today.

Mrs. Frona Gill reported to police yesterday that her grandson, aged 13, who had been selling newspapers, was beset by a bigger boy who tried to take away his earnings for the day.

The timely appearance of an automobile frightened away the thug.

Conky Conkwright's famous pearl-handled pistol, vintage of 1878, has been stolen, according to information on the police blotter today.

The gun is as well known in town as Conky, as the Hill-Billy of radio has been toting it for some time.

Rebuilt Colonial House Will Open By November 1

Final touches by both artists, interior decorators and others have converted the fire ravaged shambles of the Colonial House into a thing of beauty seldom seen anywhere west of Chicago.

Approximately $50,000 was expended in repairs to the structure caused by the fire and a similar amount has been spent in re-furnishing, redecorating and restyling the interior, according to Wilbur P. Davis, manager.

NO LONGER will the musicians be on the same level with both diners and dancers. A band shell has been annexed to the east wall of the dining room and it will be amply big enough to hold the Eastern name band that has been booked for the season.

The cocktail room has been enlarged to take care of the throngs that usually crowded into it last season. The walls have been gaily decorated and the bar itself is one of beauty. The dining room is embellished with spun glass curtains that are not only highly decorative but fireproof as well.

The room is expected to be opened November 1 at which time Davis announced that many surprises will be in store for first night attendants.

Doing the Village

with Moya Henderson

The fellow who wrote 'Saturday Night Is the Loneliest Night in the Week' must not be a frequenter of Palm Springs. Trying to even move around down here got to be a problem and many of the participants in the Men's Wear convention had arrived in town and were out to see what cooked.

Howard Hughes added to the excitement by circling around town for an hour or so looking for a good place to park. Seems he left town to fly down here without knowing that the night lights are no longer on the field but Gus Ketteman came to the rescue and delegated twelve cars to run out on the field, line up and shine their lights on the runway. Most of the rescue detail were seen later at the Doll House.

FOR YEARS now the natives have been telling me about that fireball that once in ever so many years whips off Tahquitz canyon and blazes down Palm Canyon drive. Thought I was finally witnessing the phenomena the other day but 'twas only Ruthy Roberson cruising by in her new Buick convertible. Everyone had to get a look at that gorgeous new car out at the Stables the other night and the boy parking cars was kept busy putting that one away.

Joe and Jean Omlin drove into town the other night. They're down from Oregon to spend the week with Senior Omlins. Jean and her small daughter, Jill, went on an excursion to pick autumn leaves before they left. Both got poison ivy so bad they nearly missed making the trip.

MARY HELEN THOMPSON is recuperating from her automobile crackup of last week. Although her two children were in the front seat with her, neither of them were hurt but Mary Helen received a gash below her lip which necessitated eight stitches. From Marysville, Missouri comes word that Mrs. Ruth Robb, a frequent winter visitor to Palm Springs, was married last week to Clyde Sparks. The couple are honeymooning in Kansas City. Mmes. Armand Turonnet, Tom Holland and Val Blatz were the breakfast guests of Mrs. Mary Shields last Sunday. The breakfast was in honor of Mrs. Shields house guest Mrs. Jeanne de Trida who fascinated the gathering with tales of her war experiences. Mrs. de Trida, with fifteen of her relatives, was interned at Santo Tomas prison camp for thirty-seven months.

THE FIRST Los Compadres breakfast ride of this season was held last Sunday, the Field Club being the rendezvous for chow. A long list of guests were signed in Harry Irwin's little guest book and two of them won that dubious honor of doing dishes—they were Rochell Hudson and Bill Ortwin. Bill Chin gathered as many members together (those who hadn't crawled into a stall to sleep) as were in a working mood and got to pounding nails back in the grandstands and patching the fences. Seems sad to many of us to see the grounds as they are now when we can look back a few years and remember a green turf, painted fences and rows of flowers at the entrance. We need a spot in this town where Sunday drivers can have a picnic lunch without getting stuck in the sand, a place that looks inviting enough for kids to play.

A gal who's going to be busy out around that rodeo is Patsy Walters who will have charge of cooking all those hot dogs—know what—they all have to be skinned and there are over 1,000 of them. And where's all the good old western spirit—let's get into those western togs and give the conventioners a little local color. Our chief industry is still the tourist.

The most spectacular performance of the famous Pony Express to California was the carrying of Lincoln's inaugural address nearly 2000 miles in a little more than seven days.

Known as the place where "Western atmosphere prevails in a smart desert setting," La Paz Guest Ranch this week swung into its busy schedule of horse-back riding and trips across the desert trails. A number of early morning and sunset riders have been enjoying these outdoor activities.

Those returning from a morning ride one day this week included Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Jacob of North Hollywood, Miss Julia Roberts, Miss Virginia Leslie, Mrs. P. McCracken, Lee Gersten and James Kafman, all Los Angeles. Following the long ride the group changed into swimming suits and had a dip before their luncheon was served by the pool at umbrella covered tables.

SUNDAY NIGHT Johnny Boyle, well known former Palm Springs cowboy who recently returned, entertained guests at La Paz in the smartly furnished lobby.

Jeanie and Jimmy Fouch, daughter and son of James R. Fouch, owner of La Paz, entertained two of their school friends for luncheon and a swim on Sunday. Their guests were Carol Malouf, daughter of the William Maloufs of Palm Springs and Los Angeles, and Llewellyn Thatcher, who arrived from New Jersey to spend the winter in Palm Springs. Last season the Thatcher family stayed at La Paz most of the season, and this year they are occupying the home they recently purchased here.

Kenneth Kirks
Guests of Honor
On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirk, who Sunday celebrated their 19th wedding anniversary, were surprise guests of honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Malouf that evening. Mr. and Mrs. Malouf invited the Kirks to their home and then also invited many Village friends of the Kirks and some friends from Los Angeles.

When the Kirks arrived at the Malouf home they were greeted by their many friends.

The South American motif was carried out in costumes and decorations as the Kirks were married in South America. A play, directed by Mrs. Paul Belding, depicted the meeting of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk traveled extensively during the summer months through the south and east and on up into Canada. They returned to the Village earlier than usual and have opened their attractive home here.

Guests at the delightful affair were: Senator and Mrs. William F. Knowland, Madame Mary Louisa Figueroa of Mexico City, Messrs. and Mesdames Edwin Anderson, J. Darsie Lloyd, Harold Murphy, James Whitehorn, Walter McManus, Mortimer Barnes, Carl Sepika (Santa Barbara), Lee Berring, Vincent Marcos, Thomas Lyons, R. Welty, Bert T. Malouf, Robert Ransome, Harry Macey, Kent Colburn, B. B. Odum, Ben Gales, Mesdames Bagnall, Nassour, and Ethel Parker, Miss Beth Scott, and Charles Bedeau, son of Mrs. Albert Bagnall.

Mrs. James Whitehorn was hostess at a dinner party last night at the Chi Chi entertaining Mr. and Mrs. William Rashall, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hotchkiss, George Gannon and R. F. (Phat) Graettinger.

Safety Topic of Rector Sunday at Episcopal Church

The sermon at the Episcopal church Sunday morning will be on "Safety by the Grace of God." To be safe, the condition of being saved means more than not being in jeopardy of injury or death, said the Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, rector of St. Paul's-in-the-desert. Jesus once warned us against the futility of "gaining the whole world and losing one's own soul."

The Girl Scouts of America, in whose honor this Sunday is being kept, will be welcome at all services.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S Fellowship meets at 7 for evening prayer conducted by the officers. New high school students are welcomed at each meeting. After four successive Sundays in attendance there are inducted into regular membership and invested with the badge.

The first social hour, to follow the service will be on Sunday night, Nov. 17. The place to be announced later.

FRIDAY is All Saints Day, or as our Anglo Saxon Christian forefathers called it, All Hallows Day, 10:00 a.m., Holy Communion in the church, with the semi-annual United thank offering of the women of the church, followed by meeting at the home of Mrs. Eber D. Kanaga, 1111 Tamarisk Road. Bring sandwiches for lunch. The meeting this week is changed from Tuesday to Friday,

THE GILA MONSTER

No other lizard in the United States is as well known by reputation, and less understood than the notorious gila monster of the southwest's arid regions. He has found a legendary niche in desert lore that will be difficult to remove by the true facts. So many stories, many of them utterly fantastic, have been woven about this beautifully marked reptile that it is difficult to distinguish truth from fiction.

To begin with, his name has a Spanish pronunciation, in which the "G" has an "H" sound; thus: hee-la monster, named after the Gila river and the Gila desert of southern Arizona, where the lizard occurs most commonly. To the naturalist, he belongs to a family of lizards called the Helodermae, in which there is only one genus, Heloderma. This generic name, Heloderma, comes from two Greek roots meaning "nailed skin," and one of his common names is the beaded lizard. This name is a good one for the entire body of this large reptile is covered with big roundish tubercles, each enclosing a smaller bony particle, thus resembling the heads of nails or beads. These "beads" are colored either brown or black or else yellow, salmon, or orange, arranged in a definite but irregular reticulated pattern, dark on light, with the legs black and the tail banded by 3 or 4 wide black rings.

DESERT INDIANS are claimed by some to have copied their basketry and rug designs from the patterns seen on the backs of gila monsters. This seems highly unlikely, however, since the patterns are seldom of such a nature that they could be utilized as a design. However, the bright contrasted coloration, usually solid black against brilliant orange, makes this lizard very easy to identify. No other lizards have such a color scheme, nor such a beaded appearance.

Other characteristics of the beaded lizard are his wide blunt head, thick body, wide flat tail almost as big as the body itself, and his general sluggish demeanor. The tail is blunt-tipped and thick for an express reason: it is used as a reservoir for fat-storage, during the winter hibernation period, and if a captive specimen be deprived of food for a long time, the tail will be seen to gradually diminish in size, all with no apparent ill effects to its owner.

Two other distinguishing characters, which set the Heloderma apart from other lizards, are not readily apparent unless one examines the skull. First, it will be noted that all of the teeth, including the so-called "fangs" on the lower jaw (not the upper, as in the rattlesnake), have two grooves along their lengths, one on each side. Second, it can be ascertained by dissection that the gila monster actually possesses a pair of poison glands, also located in the lower jaw where the lips appear to be swollen. These poison glands make the genus Heloderma the only venomous lizards in the world! There may be a closely related poisonous genus in Borneo, but this has not been definitely ascertained.

THE POISON of the beaded lizard, is neurotoxic in effect like the venom of the cobras, acting upon the nervous system rather than the bloom-stream (as is the case in rattlesnakes). It is secreted into the mouth cavity from between the anterior teeth and has no direct connection with the "fangs" themselves. In order to poison a person, the venom would have to be more or less chewed into the wounds made by the teeth, a rather difficult task. Turning over on its back might aid the poison to flow downward into the wounds, but this is not always done by the lizard, which seldom even bites. The purpose of this poison is highly debatable, for the lizard can utilize it only with great difficulty, and certainly does not rely upon it to obtain food. In captivity he will eat nothing but chicken eggs, about one a week. If the eggs of wild birds form the major portion of his diet in the field, then the venom would seem to be absolutely wasted. No doubt the glands are carry-overs from ancestral lizards who, like present-day rattlesnakes, depended almost entirely upon their use to secure animal prey. But one can only conjecture on this.

According to that "wizard of the waxes," there are a privileged few who can in a small way compare to the tip-top of the tip-tops—Lombardo by name. One of these "fortunates" happens to be Irving Berlin, who is being featured by quite a few orchestras of late. One of the best is an album done in the smooth style of Al Goodman, who has distinguished himself on Columbia Masterworks as being one of the ultimates in the waltz world. Included in the album are such all-timers as Remember, Blue Skies, All Alone, and Alexander's Ragtime Band.

Have you heard "King" Kenton's arrangement of Intermission Riff? It's one of that rugged Ragtime's arrangements which is further proof that he's right in there pitching. This is doubled with a sweet little arrangement of a profound truth—It's a Pity To Say Good Night.

With Halloween just around the corner comes to mind overturned garbage cans or maybe a wrecked back fence, but there is the apple cider side of it, too, which brings to mind Ida-Sweet as Apple Cider and as rendered by Milton Brown and his Brownies, Ida is one gal who really gets a buildup. Typically western, he sails into this ditty, along with its back-side neighbor—Bring It On Down to My House, Honey, straight on through to a smooth ending.

Many stories have been told of the deadly potency of this lizard's venom. However, its exact toxicity has never been agreed upon by laboratory workers. Small amounts of it injected into warm-blooded animals like mice will quickly cause death. Few cases of humans being bitten by the lizard have been recorded, and no actual deaths from such bites have actually been attributed to its venom. Most herpetologists, do concur that the poison is dangerous and to be avoided; some even claim it is as powerful as rattlesnake venom. The story that this "monster" blows a poisonous spray from his jaws, which is fatal to anyone within range, is of course untrue.

There are only two definite species in the genus Heloderma. The commoner is called Heloderma suspectum, the Arizona gila monster. His range extends from extreme southwestern Utah through Arizona to Sonora in northern Mexico. He does not occur naturally in the state of California, for the Colorado river apparently is a barrier to his western distribution. The second species, Heloderma horridum, the Mexican beaded lizard, occurs along the west coast of Mexico north of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

IN LENGTH, the Arizona gila monster may reach two feet. His home is the hot flat desert floors and mountain canyons, usually in the saguaro-ocotillo plant association. He is usually nocturnal in habits, probably to conserve body moisture, and may most often be seen abroad during the crepuscular hours, at dusk. He is very fond of water, and in captivity, if water is present, will spend nearly as much time in it as out of it. The beaded lizard can dig quite easily, and apparently does so in the wild state to reach buried water-sources. That he is long-lived is indicated by the fact that one captive specimen was kept alive nearly 20 years!

The gila monster reproduces by laying soft-shelled eggs, from 5 to 13 in one batch. These eggs are about two and a half inches long. The group is laid in a shallow cavity excavated in sand, then carefully buried, and left to be hatched by the heat of the sun's rays. The sandy area chosen, however, is usually a moist one, preferably near a desert stream. About a month elapses before the young are hatched, which, upon emerging, are some 4 inches in length.

Ordinarily the beaded lizard is rather sluggish and slow to react, but if he is warmed by the sun, he can lash out sideways, with extreme rapidity. Once he does secure a firm hold on any object, his bite has been likened to that of a bull dog's, and he hangs on with great tenacity.

You will hear people claim that the gila monster has no anus, no opening for the excretion of waste materials, and that the lizard is poisonous simply because of this retention of putrid material. This is in complete variance with the facts, for not only can you readily see the anal opening in any specimen and find excreted pellets from captive lizards, but the very presence of true poison glands in the mouth prove the story's utter fallacy.

Visitors to the California deserts, either the Mojave or Colorado, need not be in fear of chancing upon a wild gila monster in their walks or rides. Even in Arizona, his typical home, he is fast approaching extinction, being hunted down and captured for side-shows, he is and unless protected in such regions as Saguaro National Monument or Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument, he may someday be relegated to a position beside the Dodo bird or the Passenger pigeon.
